Republicans Have All Underhold and Command the Layout.

Washington, December 9.-Both the republican and democratic committees appointed for the purpose of filling the vacancies in the senate committees met this afternoon at the capitol. The republicans conducted their conference with the utmost secrecy. No conclusion of any kind was reached and meetings will be held from day to day until committee arrangements are ready to be sub-mitted to the caucus. The large addition to the republican membership of the senate makes the task of suitably and satisfactorily adjusting the assignments a task not easily performed.

Those senators like Sherman, Morrill, Allion, Mitchell and Aldrich, who have been chairman of particular committees for years, will retain their places, and where a senator is the ranking member of two or more committees he will be permitted, in accordance with the usage of the senate, to select the chairmanship from his list that he prefers. The difficulty arises in locating the new men and rearranging these committees, the membership of which have been almost entirely obliterated. almost entirely obliterated.

Every republican senator will receive a chairmanship. There are sixty standing and select committees. Of these fifteen are given to the minority, leaving forty-five for the republicans. As there are but forty-two republicans in the senate they can thus be easily accommodated, to say nothing of two republicans in the senate they can thus be easily accommodated, to say nothing of a per cent of three chairmanships to populists, if need be. The silver men will doubtless dominate the finance committee and will fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Mr. McPherson. There is also proposition to increase the number of that committee by adding Mr. Platt, of Con-necticut, and if this were done, Mr. Platt, attate, and Elmer B. Adams, who is the ranking man in three important committees, would probably give way on the most important of these and give some of the new men a place.

The democratic committee also had a conference, but came to no conclusion, preferring to wait and see what the republicans and the state of the second seco ex-Senator Platt, of New York, Mr. Platt also visited their headquarters this morning and frankly informed them that he would oppose locating the convention in San Francisco. The great length of time consumed in going and coming, he regarded as a matter of too much importance to be lightly considered. He argues that many of the delegates who are business and professional men would be unable to attend by reason of the long distance, and that their places would be filled by proxies, who would not, as a rule, represent the brains, intelligence and high character of the republican party. He did not say what sit he favored but he is understood.

what city he favored, but he is understood to approve of Chicago.

The most complacent of the contesting delegations this morning is that from St. Louis. Their most conspicuous member is Mr. Chauncy I. Filley, a veteran polltician of wide experience. Mr. Filley is confident that St. Louis will win the prize, and that, too, before any considerable number of ballo have been taken. His con fidence is shared by his associates from St. Louis, who frankly admit that San Francisco y lead them on the first and possibly the second ballots. So certain are they that a majority of the committee are with them that they decline to enter into any arrangement which calls for their support in the event of

All of the delegates without exception insisted that they were not ready to present their claims, nor would they be until tomorrow. Nevertheless, the meeting was held with a quorum present.

REED AS A CANDIDATE.

Ambitious To Be President, but Says He'll Fight Only Once. Washington, December 9.—While Speaker Reed will not talk for publication regarding the next republican convention, he does not hesitate to discuss the subject with his personal friends. One of his closest friends said today:

"Speaker Reed believes that whoever is nominated on the republican ticket will be

He is convinced, moreover, that if he is not nominated this time he never will be. He said to me recently that his great ambition was to be president of the United States, but that he had a horror of being looked upon by the country as a perpetual candidate for that office.

as a perpetual candidate for that office. He does not intend to be a Blaine or a Sherman. He does intend to strive with all his power from now until the convention adjourns to secure the nomination. "If he wins, he says, he will have reached the height of his earthly desires, and if he fails he will retire absolutely from politics, move to New York city and take up the practice of law. He says this without any pettishness or feeling that he will have a grievance because he shall have been denied the nomination.

"He says that he has obtained now, with the exception of the presidency, all that it would be possible for him to obtain of political honor. He has, he tells me, become convinced that he has got to the parting of the ways of his life, one of which may lead to the presidency and the other. may lead to the presidency and the other to an honorable and remunerative career as a lawyer out of politics. He has delib-erately started on the former. If he finds that he cannot reach the goal he has de-termined to renounce all desire to obtain it in the future, to get on the other path at once and to follow it resolutely."

SENSATIONAL STORY.

CINCINNATI SOLDIERS NOW ON THE WAY TO CUBA.

They Came Here to the Exposition and Didn't Go Back Home-The Latest News.

Cincinnati, O., December 9.-Seven members of the Fifth regiment of the Ohio national guard, while with their regiment at Atlanta, deserted their companies and went to Cuba to enlist with the insurgents. A letter, received from Savannah, Ga. stated that they would leave for Bermuda tonight, where they would catch a boat and sail for Cuba on December 15th. The leader of the party is First Sergeant Arthur Burdge, of Company K, and offi-cers of the regiment fear that there is a number of other desertions.

CUTTER AT WORK.

Filibusters Were Too Clever for the Revenue Officers.

Key West, Fla., December 3. The revenue cutter Forward returned today from Cape Sable, where she had been sent by Collector Browne to watch the Cuban fill-busters at that point. She reports that on Saturday a steamer of about 600 tons, ap parently a yacht, came to anchor about twelve miles from the cape. The cutter got under way and steamed toward the strang er and when within about three miles of her the latter hove up anchor and proceeded to sea, going about three miles to the cutter's one. Several shots were fired at her but no attention was paid to them. The cutter picked up a ship's yawl boat with four men, one American, two Cubans and one negro. The American acted as spokesman and said that they were bound to Key West from New York by way of Tampa, but as they were so near they ha decided to tack their boat for Key West He claimed not to know the name of the steamer or its destination. Captain Roberts, of the Forward, released the men. It is thought by the officials here that the camp at Cape Sable has been broken up. For three months Collector Browne has been watching the movements of this party and several times they have changed their camp only to be again located and closely watched, but notwithstanding all the precautions to prevent the sailing of this expedition, taken by the customs offi-cials, The Times Union correspondent is reliably informed that most of the men have left Cape Sable and on the steamer sighted by the cutter Forward. The capture of the arms and ammunition and the return of part of the original party was part of a well laid plan to deceive the officials and call off the several cutters stationed in that vicinity. The many reports made by the returning members were calculated to create the impression that the expedition had been abandoned. It is reported that the steamer had many men on board and also a large amount of ammunition which had been picked up at several places along the coast. Enrique Collazo is said to be in command of the party. News of their safe

The Committee on Credentials Had but Very Little Difficulty-Proceedings of the Day.

New York, December 9.-The convention of the American Federation of Labor was opened this morning at Madison Square Garden. Labor leaders from all over the country. Canada and Great Britain are present to lend their prestige to the convention as an assemblage of the leading representatives of the organized working class of the United States.

The greatest interest is already displayed in the election of officers and the friends of candidates are actively canvassing for 2 o'clock in order to give the comm subordinate to the government, but today the government is at the mercy of the banks, and the bankers dictate our system of finance and laugh at the protests of the people against the tyranny of their rule. You should not only protest by resolution against the crime committed, but bring your influence to bear upon your representatives in congress to the end that they may provide against a repetition or a they may provide against a repetition or a continuance of this great crime.

Sympathy for Cuba. "What stronger evidence," he continued, "can be given to the world to demonstrate that the spirit of liberty and progress still lives than that of Cuba, formerly the slave lives than that of Cuba, formerly the slave mart of the western world, now shaken from center to circumference by a revolt for freedom on the part of men, or the sons of men, who, a few years ago, were sold as slaves to the highest bidder. The Cuban revolt is in itself deserving of a consideration and recognition at our hands, but when we remember that the Spanish dynasty has always evidenced hostility to republican governments, even in the case republican governments, even in the case of this country, we should be all the more determined to insist upon fair treatment being extended by the congress of the United States to the revolutionists of Cuba, and I trust ere this convention adjourns you will have adopted revolutions petition-ing congress to at least recognize Cubans as belligerents." Committee on Credentials. The following committee on credentials was announced by the president: T. J. Elderkin, L. F. Tracy, J. C. Dernell, D. P. Bowland and William Mailly.

The convention then took a recess until

The convention will remain in session for more than a week. Many important questions will come up for debate and action. Among the matters to be considered is the subject of a general movement for the eight-hour workday on May 1, 1896.

Wednesday evening there will be a grand ball and reunion of all the labor leaders at Madison Square Garden. Invitations have been sent to men of prominence in nearly all the walks of life. The convention opened in the assembly rooms of Madison Square Garden shortly after 10 o'clock. The hall was elaborately decorated with bunting and streamers and banners of various labor organizations were also hung upon the walls. As this is the first time in twelve years that the Federation has met in this city the convention has excited exceptional local interest and the assembly rooms and corridors were crowded some time before the proceedings began John McBride, the president of the Federation, called the convention to order and introduced J. W. Sullivan, of this city, who delivered the address of welcome. President McBride responded in approoriate terms. He handled in a vigorous fashion all the questions of the day. Roasts the Bond Deal. On the recent issue of government bonds. President McBride talked some vigorous English. He said: "The greatest crime of the ninetneenth century, and the most remarkable ever perpetrated upon our people, was that committed by the present national adminis-tration in adding to the bonded indebtedness of our country during a time of peace.

"The attempt to maintain a gold reserve of one hundred million dollars by a con tract such as was made with the Belmont Morgan syndicate was farcical to say the least, but a farce only in so far as it was intended to blind the people to the fact that they were being robbed, deliberately and unmercifully, in the interests of eastern bankers and bondholders, whose only desire has been and now is the tion of a system of bonded indebtedness of part of the government.

"The wickedness of the bond deal was exposed to the syndicate advancing gold to the government one day to increase the reserve, and the next day decreasing the reserve by handing in national securities and getting gold for them, and with this gold purchasing new bonds having a long lease of life. The eastern bankers, if permitted, will continue draining the gold reserve until new bonds replace the old ones, and an interest-bearing indebtedness has again been established, and the life of the national banks prolonged beyond the present generation of men. "The bankers are not in business for their healtn, and they do not care what misery they plunge the people into; how embarrassed the government becomes or how heavily the people are taxed, so long as their profits are assured; and why should they? They are not to blame. It is humiliating, however, to think, at the close of the nineteenth century, that a national admiristration can be found supine enough, or corrupt enough, to permit the government to be held up and plundered as ours has been plundered during the last year and a half.

"In the earlier days of this government, when statesmen and not politicians were guiding the ship of state, the banks were their healtn, and they do not care what

Talk by John Swinton. At the conclusion of the reading of the reports John Swinton, the well-known writer on labor subjects, addressed the convention. The speaker denounced the methods of treating strikers by the authorities and instanced the sending o troops to Chicago by the "unspeakable Cleveland." The militia, he said, had become the tools of a plutocracy, so base that no army in Europe would "do the dirty work of shooting women, as they say they did in Brooklyh. Conlin, the chief of the New York police," he continued, "had talked of grape and canister for the suppression of strikers. Shame upon that creature Couling what is a manager of the suppression of strikers. that creature Conlin, who is a meaner foe than his predecessor." The time for strikes had not yet passed, Mr. Swinton said. How else should the workers meet the oppression of government and of plutocrats. If American labor found that new methods were necessary to pressure tocrats. If American labor found that new methods were necessary to preserve American freedom, now imperiled as never before, let them adopt such new methods as would meet the situation and the existing conditions.

Rev. Father Ducey also delivered an address and at its conclusion the convention adjourned till tomorrow morning.

Montgomery, Ala., December 9 .- (Special.) There was produced here tonight for the first time the comic opera "Elisa," which competent critics believe will bring for tune and renown to its author, Victor Er hart, a young and exceedingly accomplish ed musician of this city. Mr. Erhart put his play on with local talent, but he spared no pains to train them and the production was second to no amateur performance ever given in the south perhaps.

"Elisa" is bright, jolly, catchy and original. The music is bright and thoroughly fetching—such airs as the school girls will be humming and the newsboys whistling to-morrow. Critics here believe Erhart has a fortune in his work. They say it is vastly more taking than "The Patriots." He ha already declined an offer of $5,000 for it.

DAUGHDRILL IN JAIL.

The Slayer of Bates Brought to Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., December 9.—(Special.)—Colin Daughdrill, who slew J. I Bates, traveling man for the wholesale house of Gaulbert, Beaslee & Co., of Louisvill, Ky., at Gadsden Saturday night one week ago, was brought to Birmingham this morning and placed behind the bars of Jefferson county jail. The charge against him is murder. Daughdrill was brought to this county for safekeeping. It is know that he has many friends at Gadsden, and it is also known that much feeling exists against him for killing Bates. Bates was not the first victim of Daughdrill. Two years ago he killed Armstrong Stewart, yardmaster at Gadsden for the Rome and Decatur railroad, and was out on ball when he killed Bates. Daughdrill was brought here by Sheriff Barnes, of Etowah county, and Deputy Sheriff Vines, of this county. The jailers state that he remarked when he was pu in fail here that he was not afraid of the drummers," as he had as many friends as they had.

As has been stated, the Alabama dipision of the Travelers' Protective Association has taken steps for the prosecution of the slayer of their brother member. A meetng was held in this city on Saturday night last and arrangements made for the raising of funds to defray the expense of proseution, so it is stated.

Judge Bilbro seems to have had two fears with regard to Daughdrill, the one that, if kept at Gadsden fail he would be nobbed, the other that his friends might come to his rescue.

Ex-Postmaster Arrested.

R. Det Jones, ex-postmaster at Warrio is a prisoner in the county jail, where he was placed Saturday last by order of H. A. Sharpe, judge of the city court. Jones was a witness for the defense in the above case. He did not respond to summons to court, and was attached. After brought to court by attachment he re fused to testify, and was sent to jail for five days. He has not yet signified his willingness to testify and get released.

Coming After Seay. Jim Seay, wanted here for escapin from the street gang, so it is charged and also on a warrant charging him with assault with intent to murder, is under arrest in Atlanta. Chief McDonald was notified of the capture. Some time ago Seay, so it is alleged, assaulted a well-todo farmer living near North Birmingham, in a house on Avenue B and Twenty fourth street. It was at a house occupied by a woman named Maybin, and the farmer was asleep at the time. Seay, it is charged, beat him unmercifully over the head, cracking the skull.

Seay was arrested and heavily fined by the recorder, but he managed to get away. An indictment is said to have been issued against him since his escape, charging him with assault with intent to murder.

He will be brought back, and after serving a while for the city will be turned over to the county authorities. woman named Maybin, Officers Chase a Man Several Miles on the Chattahoochee.

THOUGHT IT WAS WILL MYERS

The Unknown Tied Up in a Creek and Went Duck Hunting and Never Came Back to His Boat.

A man in a stolen boat, stocked with week's provisions, a gun, cooking utensils and other excursion paraphernalia, caused a small sensation along the Chattahoo

It was at first thought that Will Myers had fitted out the boat for an expedition down the river, and three or four coun-policemen worked the banks of the strea for a distance of several miles endeavor-ing to apprehend the man said to be loating down the river. The individual with the floating turn of mind has not yet been found, but his boat and cargo have been confiscated by the officers, and as no very strenuous effort is being made to find the man, is he gives himself up to the county police with a good excuse for his conduct, his property vill be returned to him without cost ney, which was cut short by the vigilance of the officers, somewhere in the vicinity of the new waterworks station on the river. It was discovered that a boat locked near there had been stolen and a man was seen going down the river in it. Those who saw the man thought that he was a young man resembling Will Myers and much excitement ensued. It could be seen looking articles and those on the bank who discovered the floating object gave the alarm, sending word to the cou that Myers or a man looking like him was going down the river.

Located in a Creek.

Officers Bradley, Herrington and Ozbu nounted their horses and set out for the Chattahoochee brick camps two or three miles below Bolton, hoping to overtake and stop the unknown boatman. Reaching the place the officers learned that the boat and occupant had been seen gliding along leisurely down stream. The officers quickly rode to Mayson and Turner's fer-ry and sent out scouts along the river nothing having been seen of the floating outfit. After passing several hours and scanning the river the officers located the boat in the creek, some distance above ing the river the officers reached the boat and found it well supplied with the necessaries for a week's trip. Two frying pans, a coffee pot, plates and dishes and a lot of provisions were stowed away in the bow of the skiff and some empty gun shells lay in the bottom of the boat, indicating that the possessor of the outfit was a hunter, but nothing could be seen of the man, despite a search of the surrounding country, a wild section of brush and undergrowth.

But He Never Came Back. Thinking that the man would return some time during the night the officers hid out near the place of anchorage and waited. The occupant of the skiff, however, did not return and just as day dawn ed yesterday the officers decided to give up the watch and take possession of the outfit. The boat was rowed back to its place of mooring and the cargo removed to the headquarters of the county police.

A satchel found in the boat contain a lot of clothing and other articles. No clew to the identity of the man in the boat was found unless an envolope bearing the name of H. L. Merrill belonged to him. The envolope contained a note signed by E. B. Jennings, secretary of the Denver, Col., lodge of the Switchmen's Mutua Aid Association, A letter written some

HOT TIMES EXPECTED

AT THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION IN CHARLESTON TODAY.

Regular Democratic Ticket Opposed by an A. P. A. Ticket.

Charleston, S. C., December 9 .- (Special.) omorrow Charleston will practically be in the throes of a religious war. The election of a mayor, twenty-four aldermen and three school commissioners has brought about a most deplorable condition of political affairs in the old city. The regula democratic ticket, headed by J. Adge Smythe, for mayor, is opposed by an American Protective Association ticket headed by William E. Huger. The bit terest of feeling exists between the two factions. The A. P. A.'s, or independents as they are called, have the entire elec tion machinery in their hands. They have two-thirds of the managers and clerks and the election commissioners and the super visor of registration are members of the

DIFFERENTIAL DUTY.

THE REICHSTAG BELIEVES THE TREATY'S BEEN VIOLATED.

Claims That Texas Fever Shut Out American Beef-Regarding Insurance Companies.

Berlin, December 9.—The reichstag adopted today without debate a resolution sus-pending all legal actions against Herr William Liebknecht and other socialist members of the reichstag, who are under charges of lese majeste and other offenses during the present session of the chamber. Count Posadowsky-Wehner, imperial min-ister of the treasury, submitted the budget, and in his speech presenting it denied in-sinuations which had been made that the represented receipts of the government had been manipulated in order to favoi proposed financial reforms.

Herr Fritzeen, centrist, criticised the idget in an approving manner, the chamber, with the exception of the socialist members, assenting to his remarks. He also thanked the government and the munic palities of Hamburg, Lubeck and Breme for their entertainment of the members of the reichstag upon the occasion of the fetes celebrating the opening of the Baltic

Continuing his remarks, Fritzeen expressed the hope that the foreign office would at the earliest opportunity explain the threatened retaliatory measures of the United States against Germany, which, is carried out, would be deplorable. He also advised General Bronsart von Schellen-dorf, the minister of war, to accede to the demand for the publicity of military tri-Baron Marshall von Bieberstein, minis

Germany had protested against this and Mr. Cleveland did loyally all that he had the power to do in the matter, but congress refused to modify its previous action. Germany, he declared, maintains that the differential duty adopt ed by the American congress is a viola tion of the existing treaty. President Cleveland's message charging Germany with applying differential treatment to certain American exports was a great surprise. He then proceeded to show that the charges made by the president were devoid of foundation. The presence of the Texas fever in cattle proved that prohibition of the importation of American meats into Germany was necessary, but the same measures were in existence against other states than America. Concerning the cancellation of the lienses of American companies he said that certain American insurance companies doing business in Prussia had nad their licenses revoked because they would not conform to the laws, which were the same for German companies and foreign com-panies. If the American companies would undertake to conform to the laws nothing could prevent them from reopening their business. This matter, he said, was purely a German concern, over which ne could not admit the criticism of a foreign government, Germany, he declared would levally continue to adhere to her treaties, not allowing herself to be frightened by threats.

Advice.

To My Democratic Colleagues in the General Assembly-Public interests of the most important character lead me to appeal to you to remain in session over Tuesday and Friday, which you can do by counting out Georgia day and Thanksglving. It is possible that the Friday session may be dispensed with, but Thursday is absolutely essential.

I propose this request in behalf of legislation that stands in danger of being killed for the lack of time for its passage. Several important measures are in this postion—chief among them the Branan

Several important measures are in this position—chief among them the Branan fee bill, which will save the tax payers of Fulton county from $40,000 to $50,000 per or Fulion county from vegetanium.

Will you allow the paltry consideration of one or two days' expense to kill this measure, bearing in mind the possible effect of such action on the next election?

I am tranquil as regards the populists. They will stay and it remains to be seen whether the democrats will rally to their duty by the people, or whether they will go home to tell their constituents that they wars on record as favoring the perpetra. go home to tell their constituents that they went on record as favoring the perpetration of public plunder through the fee system. I cannot believe that my democratic colleagues will be guilty of such a wrong to the citizens whom I represent. I cannot believe that they will ignore Governor Atkinson's outspoken recommendation to deal at once with the iniquitous system of compensation by fee. I believe that you are willing to give a good day to a good bill. I believe that you will waive personal convenience to public duty. waive personal convenience to public duty. Remember that the fate of the fee bill rests with democrats alone. Stay over rests with democrats alone. Stay over and show your constituents that you are not democrats for salary or revenue only. Show them you yalue duty more than dollars. Don't let it be said that democrats killed this bill!

What Your Vote Means.

"Aye" means to stay over and give the fee bill a fair chance.
"Nay," means to adjourn and kill it. Your co-laborer,

Colonel Frank Harwell will leave in the morning for Athens, where he will be married Wednesday to Miss Ruth Lovejoy. He will be joined in Atlanta by his law partmer the Hon. J. H. Pitman, and Hon. Sledge Tatum, Troup's representatives in the legislature, who will go with him to Athens to be present at the marriage. It is to be a quiet home affair, the ceremony to be performed by the bride's father. Rev. W. P. Lovejoy. The bride and groom will return immediately to LaGrange and go to housekeeping on Lewis street. Colonel Harwell is solicitor of the county court, which meets in regular session in a few days and he will not have time to go on a bridal tour; besides, his partner, Hon. J. H. Pitman, 's away attending to his duties in the legislature.

A mistake was made in Sunday's Constitution in regard to the date of the lecture of ex-Governor Bob Taylor and Hon. Alf Taylor. The headline stated it to be on Wednesday night when it should have been on Saturday night next, December 14th. Large crowds are expected to come from Grantville, Hogansville and West Point to hear these distinguished speakers.

Dr. W. F. Quillian, the newly appointed pastor of the First Methodist church, 's expected to arrive with his family this week. Dr. Quillian has filled this pulpit before and gave universal satisfaction, and his old congregation is preparing to receive him and his family with open arms.

AND TALKED ABOUT THE BILL Now Before the Legislature To Prevent, Imposition on the Farmer.

General Macon News.

Macon, Ga., December 9 .- (Special.)-State Chemist George F. Payne is in the city today and was full of talk about matters of concern to his office and which are of interest to the people at large. He was here attending the trial of Ella Jenkins, in the superior court, the poisoning case that is attracting so much attention. Mr. Payne is very much interested in the outcome of the bill now before the legislature to prevent manufacturers from selling from formula more than one brand of fertilizers. Dr. Payne says that the farmers are being greatly imposed on by unscrupulous manufacturers who are selling many brands of fertilizers from the same formula. The bill is intended to remedy this evil. He thinks that the bill will pass the legislature

Dr. Payne says that he has known of instances where as many as forty different brands have been sold from the same formula and he is now actively engaged pass the legislature in getting up statistics on this and other matters in regard to the manufacture and sale of fertilizers.

Dr. Payne remarked on the noticeable falling off in the sale of fertilizers for the past season. He says the amount sold was one-third short of the usual quality, which he considers has been due to the short cotton crop. In the Courts. The case of Ella Jenkins, charged with poisoning the family of Mr. John L. Turner last May, was taken up in the superior court this morning. Dr. George F. THAT MOUNT VERNON LYNCHING

A Well-Known Preacher Writes of the Killing of Professor Perdue. Editor Constitution-Owing to the many wrong impressions made upon the public aind by statements made by various correspondents of different papers, and published and copied into the other papers, all contributing to formulate opinions detrimental to the character and standing of some of our best citizens, I, having been a citizen of Montgomery county for the last seventeen years, and for the last twelve months a citizen of Mount Vernon, and a pastor the current year of five churches in the heart of the county, including the Mount Vernon Methodist church, feel that my long acquaintance with this people enaoles me to give a clear diagnosis of public sentiment and the truer status of this people sentiment and the truer status of this people than many who have taken upon themselves to write on these lines. First, then, we affirm that our citizens are law-abiding people. Of course there are, as in all other counties, some of a difare, as in all other counties, some of a dif-ferent type, but these are few and far be-tween; 99 per cent of our people are op-posed to lynch law, even for the crime of murder. Yet, in the face of this fact, when one certain crime is committed all our good citizens combined and backed by the one certain crime is committed all our good citizens combined and backed by the strong arm of the law cannot prevent the dealing out of summary punishment. The color of the skin, wealth or social position will not exonerate the perpetrator.

Now, as to the moral of such proceeding we are not the advocate, but state a fact known and read of all men. Professor Perdue was taken from the jail in Mount Vernon some time between dark on the evening of the 23d of November, and was put to death by gunshots and fatal knife stabs. He was not, as has been published, carried into the woods and murdered, but was carried along one of the most public highways leading to the county seat, and lynched within ten feet of the public highway.

Many of the publications referred to are was carried along one of the most public highways leading to the county seat, and lynched within ten feet of the public highway.

Many of the publications referred to are calculated to make the impression that the professor was a man of unblemished character. I have known him at sight for many years and from my first acquaintance to date have been compelled to listen to statements of cases of scandal emanating in, I believe, every school he has taught for years past, growing out of alleged too great intimacy and ino scree conduct toward some of his young lady pupils. I will refer the reader to the citizens of Millen, Belleville, Higgston, etc. Surely of all men on earth the teacher of a mixed school should be most discreet. I feel safe in saying that the last alleged crime was not the first when lynching was imminent. I will refer the reader to Mr. Kelly, who now is and has been for years one of the Central Railroad of Georgia's most trusted conductors.

Again, some of the articles referred to assume that the immediate friends of his last victim, namely, Miss Grady, were the lynchers. In common with many of the good citizens of this county we do not believe this statement. No citizen of this county stands better in public estimation than does Mr. J. E. Grady, the heart-stricken father of the injured young lady, nor did any young lady in the range of our acquaintance have a better character than sha. For years, during her childhood and girlish days, she, with mer parents, lived in the same village in which I reared my family. She grew up with my children. She was a bright, warm-hearted, sunny, genial-spirited child. We said a few moments ago that we did not believe that Mr. Grady had any knowledge of the approaching lynching. This opinion is predicated upon a long and intimate acquaintance and our implict confidence n the integrity and veracity of Mr. Grady. He assures us that sucn a course had no place in his programme; that the first knowledge he had of the terrible tragedy was a telegram he received from his

of the aggregated results of the victims.

We deeply deplore the lynching and also deplore the injuries and crimes that led to it. Let lechery and lust cease, then diabolical acts and lynching will be a thing of the past.

We deeply sympathize with the family of Professor Perdue and also with the heart-crushed family of Mr. Grady.

Alderman Arnold says he saw Mr. Turner and it was all right with him. As Hutchins has not been in the office since the election Alderman Rhodes says he protested against Mr. Turner paying him a portion of his salary unless he needed and worked him. Mr. Hutchins has written a letter stating that no agreement existed between him and Alderman Rhodes to make such a demand on Mr. Turner. Mr. Turner states that his idea was that his election depended on such an agreement and that after he assumed the duties of the office he found he did not have any use for Mr. Hutchins, but that he felt bound to pay him his share of the salary and had done so since last June. He also stated that he and Mr. Hutchins had an agreement to that effect and also that Mr. Hutchins divided with him what he made on the outside. The consequence is that so far as anybody knows he has not lain down for many years, but sleeps sitting up or leaning against some object. He is very old but is as bright as a sparrow. Nobody ever sees him lying down and the presumption is that he is afraid to take any risks and that he does all his sleeping in an upright position.

order that was sent from Athens to New York.

It seems that several members of the club had determined to get up an entertainment to be given just before Christmas for the benefit of the Athletic Association of the university.

It required $63 to secure the music and other recessities for the play, and they had to be purchased in New York. So the boys sent a money order to Mr. Lamar Lynlon, who was at that time in New York. The purchases were made and the goods arrived in Athens in due time.

Mr. Lyndon returned home a few days since and asked the boys what they were going to lo about paying for the goods.

They were greatly astonished, as they knew they had sent the money for the goods.

Mr. Lyndon then told them he had bought the goods on time, but that he had never laid eyes on any money order they hal sent him. This opened the eyes of the students, and they began to hustle around for an explanation of the affair.

The postoffice department in this city was notified, and it was found that such an order had been issued from this office. Hence it must have gotten lost during its transmission through the mails. The lost money order will be traced if possible and recovered.

In the Woman's Building.

The reception tendered Mrs. Potter Palmer by Mrs. Joseph Thompson and the board of women managers yesterday afternoon at the woman's building was the most elegant and brilliant event that has yet occurred there. For receiving and entertaining guests not only the assembly hall was open, but also Mrs. Thompson's office, the press room and library, the three forming a pretty sequence of cosy apartments. Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Thompson received standing on the rostrum of the assembly hall. Mrs. Palmer wore a superb toilet of black velvet with a vest of cream-color ed lace over white satin, with a black yelvet toque to match. Her jewels were quiet, but most superb, the pin at her throat being a splendid cat's-eye, surrounded by diamonds, while the earrings matched this elegant brooch. She wore also, pinned on the left side of her bodice, the resplendent and artistic badge presented her as a token of admiration and appre ciation by the Chicago board of woman managers. This is in the form of a miniature of Queen Isabella, surrounded by dia onds, and caught with a clasp in the shape of a diamond love-knot. On the other side of this ornament is a beautiful miniature of Mrs. Palmer herself. Mrs. Thompson was in gray-that soft, tender shade which is the most bee neutral tint that she can wear. The full, graceful skirt was of velvet, while the velvet bodice was trimmed with point d'Alen-con lace and lilac and gray brocade silk, the violet pattern showing faintly through the silver gray meshes. A large picturesque black velvet hat completed the toilet Both Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Palmer wore bouquets of Parma violets, a flower doubly appropriate, since the name might be construed into a compliment to Mrs. Palmer, and the modest blossom is Mrs.

POLICE WANT CUDDY.

THE STREET PREACHER MAY BE ARRESTED THIS MORNING.

Captain Jordan Looked Into Sunday Morning's Affair and Now Wants Cuddy.

W. A. Cuddy, the street preacher, is wanted by the police.

If arrested a charge of disorderly conduct will be entered against him. The preacher is wanted on account of the scene created by him in front of the Catholic church Sunday.

An order for the arrest of Cuddy was issued and read out to the afternoon watch at 12 o'clock yesterday. All of the police kept a lookout for the preacher, but he had not been found up to midnight last night.

The order was read to the watch which went on duty at midnight last night and the preacher will probably be arrested be-The paper was signed by Captain Jes Jordan, in charge of the morning watch, who was on duty at the time Cuddy came near getting himself in trouble Sunday

The line of prosecution against Cuddy will be based upon the disorder he created in taking up a position in front of the church. His free license to preach on the street does not give him the privilege of offending people of an opposite belief by taking a position in front of their place of and preaching against them and their religion. Yesterday morning Captain Jordan looked into the matter, calling on several mem-bers of the church who saw and heard the proceedings in front of the church. Becoming convinced that Cuddy had created disorder and laid himself amenable to the city ordinances regulating the peace and good order of the city, Captain Jordan issued the order to the police to arrest the preacher.

Should the preacher be arrested the matter will come before Judge Andy Calhour a test case will be made of the affair.

The matter is likely to become important in the event Cuddy is arrested. The general question of street preaching will prob ably be looked into by the court and an important precedent may be established as to the right of preachers to conduct services on the public streets. Captain Jordan says that his only desire case is to perform his whole duty He says that he has no idea of the exten of the disorder created by Cuddy, it simply being reported to him that there was

I want to say that more chivalrous men do not exist than the hard working miners and ranch my state. I want to pay a tribute to them. I did my best in the campaign, and altogether it wasn't bad."

Miss Knowles came marvelously near being elected. So close was the issue of the election that it required three weeks to settle the question, and at last it was an-nounced that Mr. Haskell, the backelor ather life history has been crowded full of activity, dramatic incident, success, ad-nounced that Mr. Haskell, the bachelor at-torney general, had been re-elected by a narrow margin of votes.

Miss Knowles accepted the decision of the ballots with philosophical resignation and went back to her lucrative practice all the better known for the experience which she had gained. A few weeks later she was notified by letter that she had been appointed assistant attorney general of the state. The appointment, coming unsolicited, was a great surprise to her. However, she accepted and has performed the duties of her office since doing so.

Her appointment had a sequel in a de-lightful romance, which, related in Mrs. Haskell's naive way, is exceedingly interesting. While performing the prosaic duties of assistant attorney general Miss traordinary intellect and attainments and Knowles was thrown in a most co

They were married last May, the event consented to make the great journey, and arrived here Saturday. She will remain about a week and will make her address on "Women in the Professions," at 11:30 o'clock today, in the congress hall in the woman's building. Mrs. Haskell is a modest-mannered, quiet, womanly woman of medium height.

not of the aggressive, assertive type is not of the aggressive, assertive type that one would naturally expect to find in the successful feminine lawyer. She is mild, gentle, womanly, though full of determination, courage and energy. Her career as a lawyer, as well as her earlier history, proves her fearlessness and determination. Less than thirty-five years old, she has won greater success at the bar than 10 per cent of the lawyers of her age who have been in the practice fifteen years. She has been engaged in practice less than six years, and she commenced and fought her way against the odds of prejudice, lack of acquaintance and lack of sympathy. The people were not disposed to give her a sympathetic hearing, but the remarkable fact stands out that wherever she has been heard she has conquered.

Mrs. Haskell is a New Hampshire girl.

She was Miss Ella Knowles and when young girl she exhibited marked genius. She wanted a college education, but her father opposed the idea. She was determined however, and through her own efforts she went through Bates collège at Lew-iston, Me., and was graduated. Her father greatly disapproved of her course, and she went west to teach school. She had heard wonderful stories of the great state of Montana and went there. She taught school very successfully for a time, but in 1890 she drifted into the practice of law. She was admitted to the practice at Helena. At about the time she was admitted quite a number of young men en-tered the practice. Of that number only one is now a resident of Montana, and he is not in the practice of law, but is a clerk in a bank.

Miss Knowles was alone in the great state of Montana, but she found friends. Her pluck and her energy won her the way to the hearts of the people by whom she was immediately surrounded. She had a good practice almost from the start. Her friends put their lawsuits in her hands, trusting implicitly to her ability and ca-pacity to handle them. She has had won-derful success in the management of cases, having won a large percentage of those she has handled. She has tried all sorts of cases, both civil and criminal, and has been remarkably successful in all that she has attempted.

Mrs. Haskell tells in the most interesting manner of her nomination and race for attorney general of the state of Mon-

"It was a total surprise to me," said she. "I was in my office in the Masonic building in Helena one day when I received a telegram signed by three names that I had never heard before. She has done much valuable practice in the state. She is now the best known woman in the state. She has the friendship of all classes, and has had im-portant cases for some of the largest interests in the state.

She tells an interesting story illustrating the manner in which she holds the friendship of the cowboys of the state. While engaged in a big cattle case between two great ranchers she was thrown in contact with a great many of them.

"In their rough way they wanted to be nice to me, said she, and show their appreciation, yet they didn't know what to say.

Binally one of them came up and said in his henest fashion, 'Say, won't you com an' have a drink?' Now I didn't want to offend the honest fellows. They didn't know any better, and were offering me the highest form of hospitality they knew.
I thought I could compromise, and said

'Good,' shouted the crowd, and we went down and I had to drink with the lot of them. During the trial of the case there came a sort of luil in the proceedings, and one of the cowbor-leaned over and said to his companion in leaned over and said to his companion a loud whisper, audible all over the court-room, 'Say, Bill, I'd like to lasso that gal.' It brought down the house."

GOOD ATTENDANCE YESTERDAY

TEXAS AND FLORIDA COME TOMORROW

The Governors of Both States Will Be Here with Large Delegations-A Big Week Ahead.

The sleety dribble did not check the crowd at the exposition yesterday and in defiance to the heavy downpour the people streamed in the gates, splashed through the mud and waded about with seeming enjoyment. "The attendance is remarkable," said Inspector C. A. Felder yesterday afternoon reigning up his big black horse and brushing the mud from his boots with his riding whip. "It is much better than was expected. The admissions for the last hour have run up unusually well. I am sur-

And so was everybody else surprised at the crowd. The habitues and officials of the exposition as they faced the driving rain on their way to the grounds yesterday morning declared that no one would come out. It was a blue looking Monday indeed and no one expected such an attendance as the figures showed last night. Their estimate was based upon the attendance on the cold days of last week, when the admissions went down quite low, but the crowd yesterday far exceed that of last Monday and Tuesday.

All who came yesterday were visitors few Atlanta people ventured out. But the crowd did not suffer from the wet. The gravel walks came in good use and the berdics were well patronized.

It was a remarkable day. The Rush This Week.

This was the opinion of Mr. Sanford H. Cohen in regard to the coming of the people from the regions of Nashville to celebrate Tennessee centennial next Thursday. Mr. Cohen, the representative of the department of advertisement and amusement. has been in Nashville several days preparing for the coming of the people of that section. He tapped the public sentiment in regard to the trip and declares that the enthusiasm is boundless. Thursday promises to be an eventful day. The Tennessee people appreciate the fact that it is a good time to advertise their prospective enterprise. They know that their display here will have material effect in advancing the interests of their own This, however, is not the only motive that impels them to come to Atlanta. What other states of the south have done they have seen and they have also witnessed what the northern states have accomplish-. Another feature of vast interest for Thursday is the fact that it is the International Labor day and members of local orders estimate the representation at from 6,000 to 7,000. The grand order of Railway Conductors will be here in solid strength. At their session in this city last May over 4,000 delegates were present. All of them declared their intention of attending the exposition and recent information shows that this organization will be represented in great numbers. Mr. E. E. Clark, grand chief conductor, will be here and several other grand officers.

Mr. F. B. Sargent, grand master firewill deliver an address. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen will be here in proportionate numbers to the engineers d conductors. Mr. P. H. Morrisey, grand master track foreman, and Mr. John T. Wilson, grand master trainman, will also speak. The local Industrial Union has the day in charge and officers of that order are busy making preparations for the day. The auditorium will be occupied in the morning by exercises of the directors of the Tennessee centennial. The labor orders will go in session to the auditorium at 1

The commercial orare preparing to come, and from what he can learn Commissioner Dexter thinks that they will surprise the people of Atlanta.

On the same day comes Governor Mitchell. It is Florida-Texas-Chattanooga day. From away down in the everglades the people are coming. Up to this time Florida has not been well represented at the exposition. For some cause she has held back and assumed a rather indifferent attitude, but Governor Mitchell and a number of prominent men have taken the affair in hand and the enthusiasm is waxing warm. With the Texas military and the Florida troops and the companies from Chattanooga there will be a big parade tomorrow. The troops from Chattanooga, by the way, have all they could wish. The Western and Atlantic road has agreed to furnish free transportation to all in uniform and by a special act of the executive committee they will be admitted to the exposition grounds without charge.

Tomorrow is also Rome day, and Augusta day and Putnam county day. From all of these places special excursions are being made up to bring the people on. From every part of the south the people are coming. Honor to Governor Culberson. In honor of Texas day and the distinguished guest, Governor Charles A. Cul-

For the first time during the exposition state flag will wave from the flag staff of the administration building. It will be the lone star of Texas, in honor of this great state and the coming of its splendid young governor. The auditorium will also be decorated for the occasion by Messrs. E. D. Allen and A. Gorman, and this will be a signal mark of distinction to Texas. The governor and staff will be entertained at the auditorium from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m., and in the afternoon the governor will be in the hands of his old schoolmate, Porter King, Atlanta's mayor. In the evening he will be the guest of the Lyceum, a Georgia opera house with Texans and Texas enterprise in possession of it. This is the young governor that had the moral courage to convene the state legislature to defeat the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, and it is safe to say the Lyceum opera house will be packed upon the occasion mentioned.

CHATTANOOGA DAY.

Enthusiasm Over the Visit to the Exposition.

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 9 .- (Special.)—The business bodies of Chattanooga, supported by the local press, have succeeded in creating a deal of enthusiasm for Chattanooga day at the exposition. The last meeting of the committee having the preparations for the day in charge was held today. The report of the transportation committee, naming the Western and Atlantic railway as the official route on that day, was adopted without dissent. The action was influenced chiefly by the generous action of President Thomas in furnishing free transportation to Chattangoga's three companies of militia, and Colonel C. E. Harman's successful endeavors with the exposition management to secure the soldiers admission to the grounds on the same basis as the Governor's Guards, though Governor Turney will not attend. The mayor, city council and other municipal officers will make up a party of fifty. The committee estimate an attendance of 2,500 from here. Included in the list will be the Southern Express Company employes and families, about 400 persons, the general offices being closed. A popular saloonist will chaperone a party of 250 men, who will parade in high white hats and garb to match, preceded by circus band.

CALIFORNIA'S SHOW TO ANOTHER JURY FROM THE BIG LAKE

at the Exposition.

BOARD OF TRADE'S DISPLAY Commissioner J. A. Filcher Has Done a Good Work-How the Exhibit

Is Made and Maintained. As the fair goes on the exhibit of California continues to attract general notice. This exhibit is one of the best at the exposition, and has taken away innumeraboard of trade. be organized this morning. The state board of trade is a voluntary corporation, organized for the purpose of advancing the interests of that state on any lines that in the judgment of its directors may seem most practical and Baratoni, vice president of the Italian beneficial. It maintains à permanent exhibit of the state's productions at home, distributes California literature to all quarters of the globe and corresponds with people in all parts of the world who want to know about or are interested in Cali-fornia. It lends its encouragement to local enterprises that are calculated to promote the state's development, and it does exhibition work when others fail to keep California's resources to the front. The importance of the Atlanta exposition had not impressed itself on the people of the Golden State up to the time the biennial session of the legislature adjourned last March, and consequently no state appropriation was made for making an exhibit here of the state's resources. When later Atlanta and its prospective great exposition began to attract attention in that distant state and the importance of making an exhibit here began to impress itself on some of the people, there was one body, and only one, that could undertake the work with any show of success, and that was the state board of trade. This body discussed the undertaking, but among its members there developed more or less opposition, mainly on the ground that the south was in many respects a competitor of California; that her people already enjoyed a mild and salu-brious climate, and were, therefore, not likely to be interested in the Golden State by any show it could make. Then there drawbacks in the way of funds. The state board of trade's treasury would not warrant the necessary outlay. But under a general law of California county supervisors may appropriate a limited amount of money from their respective counties for exhibition work. At the suggestion of the state board of trade the governor, who, from the start of the agitation manifested an earnest desire to have California represented at Atlanta, and who wrote a letter to Manager Filcher only a few days ago regretting his inability to attend the exposition on account of ill health, was asked to call the supervisors of the different counties together in state convention for the purpose of considering the question of assisting the state board of trade to make a creditable show of the state's resources at Atlanta. The convention was success; needed financial aid was promised, but even then there was more or less opposition to the idea of California taking exhibit to the south. Finally W. H. Mills, a very eloquent and strong member of the state board of trade and a gentleman of recognized broad views and lib-eral sentiment, took the stand that the Atlanta exposition was in the nature of notice to the world that the south was no longer that depressed and backward section of the country it had been represented, but that it was, or wanted to be, considered in line with the progressive spirit of the age, and in this effort it deserved the encourage-ment of every patriotic citizen and every state of the union, and he was in favor of the state board of trade making an exhibit at the Atlanta exposition if it lost money in the attempt. This sentiment pre vailed, and the result is the splendid ex from California now in the southwest corner of the manufactures and lib eral arts building, which is so much admired and so favorably commented on by all visitors to the exposition. In making this exhibit California brings nothing to sell but everything to show. It is simply a show of that state's wonderful and va

At the session of the regular jury in Atlanta the foreign sections were not examined and no report was made on them. There was a vigorous kick during the whole time from some of the foreign representatives, as they claim that the exposition had advertised to have an international jury. This kick asserted itself in violent form several times and formal protest was

We have builded here a city to which we have invited our friends, so that they could form some idea of the wealth and progressiveness of the south. Mr. Howarth said he regretted that the delegation had become separated since reaching the city and that all were not present at the exercises. He told of the love and good will of the north for the south and assured President Collier that had it been known in Detroit several weeks ago that the state of Michigan was to have a day at the exposition, a crowd of immense proportions would have filled the auditorium. "We did not know that we were to come, however," said Mr. Howarth, "until a short time ago and we had not the time in which to advertise the excursion. As it is we have brought about three hundred along, and every one would have been present had the entire party been informed as to the exact time in which the exercises were to have been held. This misunderstanding is unfortunate and I am very sor ry that we are not all here. The on is a representative one and the city of Detroit, her commercial interests and her manufacturers are represented."

Mr. Howarth said that Mayor H. S. Pin-

Others of the state of Michigan, he said, were planning to come to the exposition and was sure that before the close of the fair a large delegation would come. He was thoroughly in sympathy with the exposition and in sympathy with the exposition and thought the great success of the directors was a matter of congratulation. The exposition would result in much good for Atlanta and would well advertise the city and the south. He had been greatly sur prised with what he had seen and the proportions of the expositon were a revelation to him. His party, said he, was well pleased and no doubt would thoroughly

Tampa, Fla., December 9.—Nearly 200 negroes have arrived here from Lee county, having been driven out by the whites. The negroes went down to pick oranges, but when they reached Fort Myers they were ordered to leave.

The negroes refused and armed whites forced them to the wharf and there guarded them for two days and nights till a steamer came. The negroes say they were not allowed to get anything to eat and as the guards were firing all the time they feared they would be killed. They also state that twelve negroes in their terror jumped into the river and it is thought were drowned. New Views.

We printed yesterday a short tribute to the possibilities of the south from the pen of the editor of The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. A few years ago, when partisan politics was running high, The Commercial Gazette was not inclined to take much stock in the future of the south. Taking its cue from the eastern republican editors who made it a part of their business to turn immigration and trade away from the south, the editor of the Cincinnati newspaper thought he was doing stout party service when he warned the west, the east and the wide, wide world that the south was a very poor place to go to and a mighty good place to stay away

We are glad that The Commercial Gazette has found out its error in this articular, and that it is now inclined to be as zealous in behalf of the south's material interests as it was formerly in its efforts to excite prejudice against We say this in no spirit of critiism or complaint. The Commercial Gazette was only one of a thousand engaged in the same business, and it came by its prejudices naturally and inevily as the southern people came by

The Commercial Gazette exercises very large influence in the middle west and it will be an easy matter for it to o the damage it may have unwitme to a section that is the natding ground of Cincinnati. Un nably and without doubt the e land of promise in this d of promise for capiment, and the land that have already manifested themselves is to confirm and strengthen the vague and half-formed impressions of the people of the west and northwest that, after all, the south is the paradise and refuge of the man with small capital and of the farmer with small

One thing the exposition has done very effectually, and that is to open the eyes of the best people of the country to the character and extent of the undeveloped resources of this section. Other expositions may be said to have done this in some degree, but the present exposition is in all respects the timeliest that has ever been held in the south. There has not in a quarter of a century been a period when there was as much capital idle in the financial centers as ow, and there has never been a period when men finding their old business growing unprofitable were so anxious to engage in new and promising ven-

The fact that the time was ripe for the great exposition, though it was uudertaken at a time of deep financial distress and panic, is shown in the substantial success it has won, as well as in the tributes to the south's greatness that have been wrung from men who have been inclined heretofore to regard this section either with alert and aggressive prejudice, or with contemptuous indifference.

An enterprising fellow of twenty-six came forward, but the woman's family sued out a writ of lunacy to prevent her from marrying. The jury pronounced her sane, and she eloped with her purchase and married him. The Chicago Record in commenting on this case makes the point that a short time ago a young woman in New York wanted a husband with a title, and got him after a big cash sum of several million dollars had been settled upon him by her relatives. Nobody hinted that the New York girl was insane. On the contrary society thought that she had distinguished herself.

Our Chicago contemporary thinks that it makes a difference when the purchased husband is an imported article with a title. If he is a home product the woman who offers a good price for him is supposed to be crazy.

Tobacco and Education.

The Boston university has ordered its students who are unwilling to give up tobacco to withdraw, offering at the same time to refund their tuition fees. The Northwestern university does not go so far, but it is urging its students to pledge themselves not to use tobacco. The Philadelphia Press in an ditorial on the subject says: If the statistics gathered at leading colleges have any weight it will have to be admitted that the free use of tobacco has an injurious effect upon the health of students. The best known and most thorough tests to determine this question were made at Yale and Amherst, which institutions can be taken as fairly representing the larger and the smaller colleges. In 1891 the phy-sician at Yale published the results of his observations on the use of tobacco among undergraduates. In a class of 147 stu-dents he found that in four years the 77 who never used tobacco surpassed the 70 who did use it 10,4 per cent in gain in weight, 24 per cent in increase of heights series of lectures in this country. No and 26.7 per cent in growth of chest girth. But the most marked difference was in the gain in lung capacity, the non-users re- agitator, who is endeavoring to stir up ording a gain of 77.5 per cent greater than prejudice against a peaceful, loyal and the habitual chewers and smokers.

This is a remarkable showing, but it is sur-passed by an investigation made among the undergraduates at Amherst. It was found that during the four years of a college student's life at that school the non- rabbi suggests, the victims of what he users of tobacco gained 24 per cent more in weight, 37 per cent more in height and 42 calls popular insanity. re in chest girth than the users, hile the increase in the lung capacity of the former was 75 per cent greater than in the latter. This larger relative increase among the non-users of tobacco at Amherst than at Yale is accounted for by the fact that the average age of the students at the former school is lower that at the latter school and hence they are more susceptible.

This larger relative increase water route to China, Japan and Australia nearly 3,000 miles shorter than the distance from the ports of the United States of America. to any cause which affects them injuriously. The Press also quotes Professor Fisk, of the Northwestern university, who claims that tobacco injures the intellecual faculties. According to the professor, when a college class at Yale had been divided into four sections, according to scholarship, it was found that the highest section was composed almost entirely of non-smokers and the lowest section almost entirely of smok-

Naturally, such statistics are causing college authorities to make an effort to stop the use of tobacco among their students. But the chances are that the majority of college students contract the tobacco habit before they enter col lege. In order to reform the evil teachers in public schools and parents should see to it that the boys under their care do not smoke cigarettes and chew tobacco. This is the best way to keep tobacco out of the colleges and this is where the reform should begin.

A Wonderful Story.

The other day a tiny bird tapped at the window of Mrs. Nansen's home at Christiana.

Instantly the window was opened and the wife of the famous Arctic explorer in another moment covered the little messenger with kisses and caresses.

The carrier pigeon had been away from the cottage thirty long months, but it had not forgotten the way home. It brought a note from Nansen stating all was going well with him and his expedition in the polar regions.

About two and a half years ago the Fram left European waters for a trip to the north pole. From the day when she entered the Black sea of the north no word has been received. It is conjectured that the vessel is somewhere near the pole, but during two long years of silence the friends of the explorer heard nothing until a day or two ago. One day last month Nansen took a carrier pigeon, fastened a missive to it and turned the bird loose. The frail courier darted out into the blizzardy air. It flew like an arrow over a thousand miles of a frozen waste, and then sped forward over another forests, and one morning entered the window of the waiting mistress and delivered the message she had been awaiting so anxiously. We boast of human pluck, sagacity and endurance, but this loving little carrier pigeon in its homeward flight after an absence of thirty months has accomplished a feat so wonderful that we can only give ourselves up to the amazement and admiration which must overwhelm every one when the marvelous story is told.

Mrs. Nansen's pigeon is one of the wonders of the world!

When Nations Go Mad. Rabbi Adolph Moses has an interesting article in the December issue of The American Magazine of Civics, entitled "Popular Insanity." The author of this paper declares that national madness dug the grave of the Jewish nation; sucked the life blood of the Greeks; destroyed the Roman empire; perpetuated the witchcraft delusion; started the old crusades; caused the war of secession, and is now back of the anti-Jewish movement. The rabbi says:

The anti-Semitism which is now disgracing and brutalizing so many European na tions can be rightly understood and duly udged only if we bear in mind that it is another kind of popular insanity. It shows all one characteristics of that dangerous nalady. Its blasphemous utterances and furious endeavors do not fall within the province of sane thought and action. Think only of men asserting in all seriousness hat half a million Jews, without any internal organization, without any bond but that of religion, threaten to overmaster and legrade commercially, socially, morally, reigiously and intellectually 50,000,000 Germans, who claim to be in every respect superior to every race and nation on earth. It is the mutterings of madness to accuse the handful of Jews of being the sole cause of all the evils which are said to afflict the great German people since the stablishment of the empire. It is simply anthinkable to a sane man that a few hunred Jewish financiers should through fraud nd trickery make themselves the masters lews are declared to be inferior strangers. and yet the indictment is brought against them that they have debauched German iterature through the agency of a dozen or two Jewish writers. The Jews have in this untries wound, maim, and kill one another in war in the service of their respective fatherlands. And yet their enemies pro-claim with fanatical fury that the Jews of all lands have formed a conspiracy to make war upon all Christian nations.

He claims that the people who hold such absurd views must be victims of a popular monomania brought on by unhealthy social conditions, imperfect moral training, the fanaticism of nationality and race, the inborn brutal instincts of hatred and envy, by traditional prejudice and by irreligious teachings. The persecutors of Jews pretend to believe things which have many times been declared false wicked and blasphemous by the wisest and greatest Christians, both Protestant and Catholic. They are determined to reject the evidence of their own senses, and they refuse to see the Jews as thy are-human beings who in their faults and virtues are very like their gentile countrymen. It is to be hoped that this timely article will induce the people of this country to hold aloof from Dr. Ahlwardt, the German Jew-baiter who landed in genuine American should encourage this useful class of our fellow citizens, and who, moreover, is trying to make money

The Canal Is a Necessity.

The Suez canal gives Great Britain a

This gives the British traders a great advantage over us, and they will keep olleges much the same situation would it until we get the proposed canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific. When we complete the Nicaragua canal this country will be from twelve to nineteen hundred miles nearer to the northern ports of China and Japan than Great Britain; an average of 2,700 miles nearer the western ports of South America; 1,300 miles nearer Melbourne, and over 3,000 miles nearer New Zea land.

The canal would make it to the inter est of the inhabitants of China, Japan, Corea, Australia, Malaysia, Ecuador, Bolivia, Peru and Chile-over 500,000,-000 new customers, to trade with this

When we get this new waterway Eng land will be unable to compete with the southern states in supplying eastern Asia with cotton goods, and there will follow other industrial and commercial changes to our advantage.

The south should not rest until this new highway of trade is completed. It will stimulate our cotton mill industry and when we manufactre all of our cotton at home, Liverpool will no longer be able to fix the price of the staple. Through Nicaragua, from ocean to ocean, lies the pathway which will lead to our commercial independence and #### prosperity! Raise Cotton and Manufacture It.

The dividends of the cotton mills of Fall River-we printed a little table of them the other day-are pretty fair, taking everything into consideration but they seem paltry enough in the light of what we know about the returns from the southern mills. The returns of some of these mills go as high as 33 per cent, and very few of them have fallen below 25 per cent on the capital invested. We say, therefore, that however large a dividend of 4 or 8 per cent may appear in Fall River, it has small attractions for southern mill

What they have already accomplished assures them of the future, and very few of them would be inclined to regard a dividend of 8 per cent as a very prosperous or promising showing. We are not saying this with a view of twitting the eastern mill men, but in thousand miles of ocean and plains and | the eyes of our own people to the profits that are to be found in spinning our cotton crop before placing it in the markets of the world.

In Fall River even the small dividends represent a vast amount of skill, experience and economy. In the south the large dividends represent the natural advantages that' exist here. In Fall River and other eastern manufacturing centers the dividends represent merely the margin of profits. In the south every cent of additional value that is added to the price of the raw material enters into the general fund of prosperity and becomes the possession of the whole community. Thus we have here in the manufacture of the cotton crop an incentive that reaches deeper and goes farther than the mere desire for personal profits. It is an incentive, too, that is more than likely to appeal to that class in the south which has money to invest.

There is room in every southern community for one or more cotton mills. The cotton crop is not larger than the world's consumption when the world is prosperous, and until every bale that is raised here is spun here the south will not have seized and appropriated all the manufacturing advantages.

The "Endless Chain" Nonsense. The fact that the people of this country are not behind the movement to retire the greenbacks and treasury notes in order to give the national banks entire control of the people's currency will, we think, be very clearly shown when congress comes to deal with the matter. Those republicans and democrats in congress who are wholly under the influence of those who are working to perpetuate and increase the power of those undemocratic institutions, the national banks, will, of course, vote eagerly for the retirement of the greenbacks and treasury notes; but we are of the opinion that discussion will develop the fact that this extraordinary scheme has no possible opportunity of taking shape in legislation. A more preposterous plot against the public welfare was never hatched, if we except the clandestine financial legislation of 1873. The very argument advanced in favor of it are as silly as those that might be supposed to emanate from a schoolboy knowing nothing whatever of the subject. Those who, working in the interest of the national banks, and the money power behind them, have violated the law in order that the gold reserve might be placed at the mercy of the foreign bankers and bondholders, are now swift to claim that because the greenbacks and treasury notes are used to draw the gold out they are, therefore, the cause of the trouble. We should think that even an unintelligent person would be able to see the nonsense that is the basis of this argument.

A little while ago we were told that the Sherman law was the cause of the trouble. Now we are coolly informed that the greenbacks are the cause; that, as they cannot be retired under the law, they act as "an endless chain" by which our gold supply is drained out of the country.

The folly of the "endless chain" argunent is pretty neatly exposed by The Springfield Republican which, although it is an eastern paper and opposed to the free coinage of silver, is not altogether blind to facts and logic. Our contemporary says:

Gold goes out of the country, not because of the existence of the so-called "endless chain." One might as well say the endless chain of a well pump was responsib the drawing forth of the water. To break water, if water is wanted. A rope and bucket can be used, or a well sweep, or some other contrivance. And if that well is closed up another will be opened.

The meaning of this is, of course, that if gold is demanded to settle our foreign balances, the demand will have to be supplied from some source, even if hose who want it are compelled to pay premium for it. The administration, by issuing bonds, has compelled the people to pay a very high premium for the $165,000,000 of gold that has been bought and placed in the open treasury. so that the mere existence of a premium cuts no figure whatever. The main point to be considered is that if the treasury fails to supply the gold under Mr. Cleve land's ruling that the law making our obligations payable in "coin" is a dead letter, and that they are really payable in gold alone at the option of the creditor, the banks will have to supply it, and if they fail, as they surely will, then we shall have the very conditions thrust upon us that Mr. Cleveland and the banks have been pretending that they are trying strenuously to avoid. This is only another way of saying that the greenbacks and treasury notes are no more responsible for the demand for gold and for the drain on the treasury than they are for the changes of the moon and the ebbing and flowing of the tides. The real cause in the first place is the fall of prices caused by the demonetization of silver-a fall so heavy that all our exports do not fetch enough abroad to pay our debts, and the balance must be settled in gold. That is the cause of the trouble and the remedy for it is to restore silver to its old place, even if that restoration results in a small premium on gold.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says "The writer who has best and most succinctly presented the Venezuelan case is William Scruggs, late envoy extra and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Venezuela. We have on former occasions referred to his pamphlet entitled British Aggressions in Venezuela,' and we refer to it again today to put it in sharp contrast over against the position taken by Mr. Stead in the article in The Con mporary Review, of which mention made yesterday. A Visitor's Statements Corrected. Editor Constitution-I noticed day's Constitution a clipping from The Music Trader. I do not know where Mr. Freund, who is credited with furnishing the facts, got his facts, but in two particulars he has been woefully imposed upon. First, "General" Avery was not the first ditor of The Constitution, Colonel Carey W. Styles was the first editor of The Con stitution. Second, the most serious mistake made by Mr. Feund in his article is in the last paragraph about General Avery's accomplishments, in which he says, "not his ered Henry Grady and made him a reporter on The Constitution." I knew Henry Grady and I know if he could see and read this article it would make him turn over in his grave. Mr. Grady was a journalist that could have employed General Avery as a reporter, and could have discovered him sooner than General Avery could have discovered him.

I do not see how it is possible that Grady's friends on The Constitution would have permitted such a paragraph to be copied in the paper. General Avery ought no to consent to such a statement in view of the facts, and it cast a shadow upon other claims he makes.

POLITICS IN GEORGIA.

The Meriwether Vindicator suggests that "when the democrats came into power, March 4, 1894, the leaders should have held a conference and agreed upon a general line of policy based upon the platform of principles upon which the party was victorious. No line of action should have been tolerated that would have had a tendency to divide the party;" whereupon The Albarty Herald replies:

"This suggestion would have been timely two years or more ago, and many of the leading democrats wanted to pursue the very line of poicy outlined by our esteemed contemporary; but one man, the great head of the party, turned a deaf ear to them all and proceeded to 'run the machine' to suit himself, without reference to the party platform or the time-honored principles of democracy. He assumed everything and set himself up as a stubborn dictator. If he sought counsel it was not from the recognized leaders of the democratic party, and the disaster that has come upon this party under such an undemocratic policy was inevitable. #### A Lie About an Owl. From The Washington Post.

We do not believe a word of a story now going the rounds to the effect that the president has a pet owl. It is said that he captured this owl at Buzzard's Bay, last summer, and that it has ever since been about everywhere and sits solemnly on his shoulder while he writes. We do not believe a word of it. We regard it as an un-

If there were an owl at the white house we should have heard of it before this. It would not have been necessary for us to wait until the information came to us from some paragrapher on a western newspaper. And even if there were an owl, wanter would be the state of th from some paragrapher on a western news-paper. And even if there were an owl, we are quite sure the president would not make a pet of it and let it sit upon his shoulder while he writes. The owl is not a pretty bird. Naither is it affectionate and prepossessing. Furthermore, its hab-its are not at all nice, and it smells un-pleasantly in the bargain. The owl may be its are not at all nice, and it smells unpleasantly in the bargain. The owl may be regarded by unthinking persons as the emblem of wisdom, but it has no real title to that distinction. It is a stupid and a greedy animal, and its sole claim to the appearance of intelligence consists in a stolid demeanor and a particularly sluggish sensibility. Besides that, it cannot see at all clearly by day and often blunders sadly on that account.

We denounce this story without hesitation as a canard, (which is the French for "duck") and we hurl it back with contempt and indignation upon its impotent and baffled author—whoever he may be.

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

A delegation of Macon lawyers came up yesterday to see Governor Atkinson in re-erence to the appointment of a success to Judge Hardeman. Early in the day it was said that the governor was thinking of sending a message to the legislature informing that body of a vacancy in the Bibb judicial circuit. But later he decided that there would not be a vacancy until Judge Hardeman's resignation takes effect, January 15th, when he will appoint a successor. Warren Nottingham was up, and he is one of the candidates for the short term as solicitor, it being generally be-lieved by the Macon lawyers that the goverror will appoint Solicitor General Feiton to succeed Judge Hardeman. But it is reported that Judge Ross, of the city court of Macon, will be a candidate for the superior court bench. He was reappointed judge of the city court by Governor Atkin-son over some very formidable opposition. In the event Judge Ross should beco superior court judge or resign his seat, James H. Blount, Jr., would seek appointment to the city court bench.

There will be three candidates for solicttor of the Bibb circuit for the long term: that is, three are announced. Represents tives Hodges and Polhill, of Bibb, and Mr. Holtzclaw, of Houston. Mr. Holtzclaw is said to be a candidate for appointment for the short term, in the event Felton is promoted to the bench. John R. Cooper and Mr. Nottingham are also after the short term. Mr. Nottingham has not promised that he would not be a candidate for the long term, but he may not be. The goverwill be urged not to appoint either of the three long term candidates, on the ground that it would give the successful man a great leverage before the legislature next year.

The situation is very much mixed. John Irwin, of Fort Gaines, was here yesterday in the interest of his candidacy for the short term as solicitor of his cir-cuit. Solicitor Tom Sheffield has no opposition for judge to succeed Judge Jim Griggs, whose resignation is to take effect January 1st. Messrs. Irwin, of Clay, and Hart and Edwards, of Randolph county, are in the race for solfcitor general. They are well known in their section of the state.

There were no new developments in the race for judge of the city court of Sava yesterday, unless the impression that a dark horse would win could be called a development. Somehow that idea got out. Friends of the two leading candidates who have been laboring with the governor say that it is impossible to get an infimation of any kind from him of what he is in-clined to do. GREAT SUCCESS IN AUGUSTA

Thorough Organization with the Brainiest Men in the World Secured at Small Cost.

Mr. Hugh C. Middleton, of Augusta, was in Atlanta a few days ago attending the exposition. Mr. Middleton has charge of industrial matters on The Augusta Chronicle, going to that paper from The Manufacturers' Record. He is also the secretary and manager of the Augusta Lyceum, a literary association for the promotion of lecturing. Hon. W. H. Fleming is president of the association. An ardent southern 'developer," Mr. Middleton believes that the literary and educational side of this development is as important as any other. Speaking to a Constitution reporter he

"The lecture platform has been too little understood or appreciated heretofore in our country. It has been a gigantic power in New England for years. It gives popular education often upon vital subjects. We have been going too long without the lecture platform and I am glad to see an awakening of interest in its favor. We cannot have universities in every town, particularly in every small town, but every town of 1,000 inhabitants can have a lecture course. It has been the case in the south until recently that even a city the size of Augusta, now with 50,000 inhabitants, gave no support to lecturers. I have discovered that the trouble really has been the lack of organization. In Augusta, previously to '92, we could hardly get a corporal's guard to hear the best lecturer unless he was sensational. We were known as a 'graveyard for lecturers.' I was very much in-terested in having good lecturers come to terested in having good lecturers come to Augusta and I therefore decided to try to organize a co-operative 'lecture association.' The scheme was not considered practicable, but I went ahead and got 100 persons to join at $10 each. We organized the Augusta Lyceum, which is now in its fourth year and is one of the strongest and most popular organizations in the city. Its lectures are by the leading men of the country and are regularly attended by from 600 to 700 peo-ple. The secret is organization and the payment of all money beforehand. The more members the less the cost to every member, so that every member works to increase the membership. We will ultimately have the cost down so low that we will have nearly everybody in town in the Lyceum. The cost to each member per ticket is now about 21 cents, though in some cities from 75 cents, though in some cities from 75 cents to $1.50 is paid to hear the same lecturers.

"I would say to every town of 1,000 inhabitants in Georgia and the south, organize and establish a lecture course. It is easy

"Indeed, so convinced have I become of the broadness of this work and its influence that I have decided to put myself at the service of any towns in Georgia that wish to organize lyceums or lecture associations and wish help in doing so. My experience may be beneficial and I will promise to go as far as my time will permit and assist in effecting such organizations. Small towns have no entertainment; they are too small to support theatrical troupes, even sprinkled in the large and small towns over Georgia the good influence would be in-calculable.

"We have had such men in Augusta as Dr. Lyman Abbott, Henry Watterson, George Kennan, John Temple Graves, Bob Burdette, Senator Ingalls, George Wendling, Dr. Henson, Governor Bob Taylor, Dr. Russell Conwell, Dr. Talmage and others, and small towns can have them just as well, though not so many. The influence of the courses in Augusta has been powerful for good."

A GAME OF FOOTBALL.

The Chattanooga Eleven Want a Turn In Atlanta.

The lovers of football will have an op portunity of seeing a good game on the Buffalo Bill grounds Wednesday. Mr. R. W. Reese, manager of the Chattanooga team, reached Atlanta yesterday morning and within an hour had closed a contract with the Fort McPherson football team for Wednesday afternoon.

The Chattanooga team is composed of Townsend, Connable, Litz, Loomis, Mc-Nulty, McAfee, Bell, Middleton, Howell, Callahan and Frix and is said to be a strong one. On the grid ron they have done some good work and the indications are that those who go to the game tomorrow will have an opportunity of seeing some good work. The team from the military post is a strong one and will make the afternoon interesting for their opp

INTENT OF THE ORDINANCE

Which Will Be Presented Next Monday-The Collection of Water Bills-Police Committee.

Seven physicians, one in each ward, render medical services to the poor of Atlanta during the year for a price fixed by the general council before the election takes

For years that has been the custom, and with very few exceptions the poor of the city, those who are not able to hire a physician, have been well and faithfully treated by the ward physicians.

Occasionally, however, complaints have been lodged with the mayor and the members of the general council relative to the treatment patients received. Some of the complaints were based upon an alleged tardiness in responding to calls and others upon the idea that the physicians were not disposed to give the requisite time and attention to the patients. Two or three times the matter has been brought through the regular course to the attention of the general council and has had a reference to committee, by which it was investigate But every investigation has demonstrated the fact that the complaints were ground-less and has produced a declaration by the committee of investigation that the ward physicians have been rendering a service requiring more time than the pay they receive warrants. More than once it has been shown that the ward physicians have sacrificed attention to paying patients for the purpose of attending calls from the poor, and as often the investigating committee has recommended an increase in the pay set apart for the physicians who give their time and attention to the poor of the city. The pay of the seven physicians ranges from $300 to $700 a year. For years past the treatment of the poor by medical men has been quite a question with members of the general council, and many is the time attempts have been made to solve the question. To give a full and undivided time to the poor of any ward, the pay fixed by the general council would be so inadequate that none of the physicians in the city would accept it. But the pay awarded by the general council is just enough to induce any physician of the city to accept the place, as it would, at least, pay horse feed and wear and tear of a vehicle.

When the general council meets next Monday a paper will be presented looking to a solution of the question. The paper comes from Mr. Welch, the retiring mem ber from the fifth ward, and was lodged with the city clerk yesterday morning. It provides for a radical change in the system by which the poor of the city are treated medically, and there is more than a pos-sibility that it will be adopted by the general council at the meeting of that body next Monday.

The ordinance, that is what the paper is, provides for the abolition of the seven ward physicians—one for north Atlanta ward physicians, one for north Atlanta and the other for south Atlanta. It provides that they shall devote their entire at tention and time as caring as physicians for the poor of Atlanta and that they shall be compensated by the city in the sum of $3,000 a year each. The paper makes it incumbent upon the physicians elected to undertake no responses to calls that may in any way interfere with their attention to the poor. It practically prohibits any practice whatever other than that for which they are to be paid by the city.

During the day yesterday the paper was discussed about the city hall and the members of the council who talked of it, and that was no few, as it was a day of committee meetings, expressed themselves as favoring the ordinance. The poor of the city who need medical aid are find an easy task before them. The paper will be formally presented to the general council next Monday and the indications are that it will be finally disposed of during the session, and it is more than likely that it will be adopted.

BIGNON TONIGHT THEY DO GOOD WORK TO DOCTOR THE POOR FAILED TO RESPOND A MAN WITH NAMES

THEIR BONDS WERE FORFEITED

The Bond of Sorf Foster Was Also Forfeited and Sheriff Barnes Was Asked To Arrest Him.

The bonds of J. J. Rowe and L. N. Mercler were forfeited yesterlay by Judge Richard Clark, and Sheriff Barnes was instructed to arrest the defendants and place them in jail, unless they could give new bonds.

The case of Mercler and Rowe, charged with perjury, was reached in the superior court yesterdey morning. The courtroon was filled when Judge Clark rapped for order. The cases against the two men were called, but neither Mercier nor Rowe answered. Mr. Thomas R. R. Cobb had been appointed to assist Solicitor Hill in the prosecution and the names of a number of witnesses were called, among them being the name of C. C. Clay, the juror wne testified that the affidavits of Mercier and Rowe were untrue. Solicitor Hill announced ready. Mr. Hamilton Douglass, who was present to represent Mercier, made a statement to the court. He said that his client was not in the courtroom, but had been in his office Saturday, when Mercier was in formed that the case would be continued if the court would grant a continuance, as he was not feeling well and would like to secure a postponement. Mr. Douglass thought that probably Mercier, thinking that the continuance would be asked for anl granted, had remained away, not be lieving that it would be necessary for him to be present. Solicitor Hill objected to a continuance of the case. He said that all due notice had been given and he saw no reason why the case should be postponed, as there was no excuse for the absence of Mercier

"I move," said Solicitor Hill, "that the bond of L. N. Mercier be forfeited." The name of the defendant was called three times, but Mercier did not respond. The name of H. C. Underwood was pronounced three times in a loud voice by the bailiff, asking that the person of Mercie be produced in court. Underwood signe the bond of Mercier, but he, like Mercier was not in the courtroom. The bond was then ordered forfeited by Judge Clark and the bailiff was instructed to arrest Mer cier, and either have the bond increased or the defendant placed in jail.

The name of J. J. Rowe was called three times, and then the name of his bondsman H. C. Underwood, but as neither answered the bond, on motion of Solicitor Hill, was ordered forfelted, and the sheriff instruct ed to arrest Rowe and have him make a good bond, otherwise to place him in jail Sheiff Barnes and his deputies are nov looking for Rowe and Mercier, and when they are arrested they will be asked to give a strong bond for their appearance. The Story of the Charges.

Mercier and Rowe were arrested severa weeks ago on a warrant sworn out by Colonel W. C. Glenn, charging them with perjury.

Mercier and Rowe made an affidavit that during the last trial of Will Myers they saw Colonel Glenn, who was prosecuting the case, hold a conversation with two of the jurors who were sitting on the case. In the affidavit the two men swore that they were sitting in the gallery just in front of the door that opens into the jury room. Colonel Glenn, the paper stated, was standing in the door of the jury room, smoking a cigar, when the jury was ordered into the room. As the jury passed by, they swore they saw Colonel Glenn speak to two members of that body and step into the room with them for a mo-ment. This affilavit was made and given Mr. Moyers, the attorney of Myers, and

They were bound over on the charge in the justice court of Judge Bloodworth, but were released on bonds signed by H. C. Underwood. Later on the two men were indicted by the grand jury, but the men could not be found by the sheriff. One was heard from in Alabama, near Bush mountain, and stated that he had been called to that state on legal business. They were both served with the indictment and were released on bonds signed by the same bondsman, H. C. Underwood, whose name appeared on the justice court bond.

Yesterday the case was reached in the superior court and resulted as above stated. The sheriff will endeavor to locate the men and will make their bonds secure. Another Bond Forfeited.

Solicitor Hill announced that he was ready to enter into the trial of Sarf Foster, charged with an attempt to rape.

The name of Foster was called, but he did not respond. The names of his two bondsmen were called, H. C. Underwood and Angel Sellars. Neither responded, and on motion of Solicitor Hill the bonds were ordered forfeited by Judge Clark, and Sher-

MRS. OWENS'S BOND

Her Husband Will Probably Arrange One in Court Today.

ADOLPHUS GETTING BETTER

Mrs. Owens's Condition Prevents Her Arrest and She Will Waive a ley Allen.

Detective McDonough, of the New York police force, who is in the city, called at police headquarters last night and took Preliminary Hearing.

Mrs. Owens, who shot Jake Adolphus last week, will probably give bond in the su-perior court today. She will waive preiminary hearing on the charge of assault to murder and ask the court to set a bond for her appearance in court.

Mrs. Owens is confined to her room seriously sick and her husband has about arranged for a bond for her and will attempt to have an amount set today. He has imployed lawyers to defend his wife and he case will be fought vigorously.

Adolphus is improving and it looks as if he will recover. His relatives went before a justice of the peace last week and swore out a warrant against Mrs. Owens, but i has never been served on account of the delicate condition of the lady. Chief Ver-ner and Sheriff Barnes have both caused examinations of Mrs. Owens to be made by physicians and the latter report that it would be extremely dangerous to remove her from her room at this time. Under this state of affairs the officers decided to place a watch over Mrs. Owens and she has been guarded since the day after the shooting. She does not deny the shooting and says that she has nothin regret. Her defense will be that Adolphus grossly insulted and made improper advances towards her on the day of the shoot-

The county police force investigated the case on the same night, and finding Mrs. Owens in a delicate condition, they refused to ar-rest her, believing that her removal to jail might result unfavorably. Sheriff Barnes took the matter up and made an investigation of the case on his own account. He directed the county physician to report on the advisability of re-moving Mrs. Owens to jail and said that if she was well enough he would direct the arrest of Mrs. Owens. The county physician, Dr. Gilbert, reported that Mrs. Owens should not be arrested at this time. Chief Verner, of the county police, took a position on the matter placing Mrs. Owens under guard and declining to arrest her on account of her health. He had Dr. Car-michael to examine Mrs. Owens and the physician signed a certificate to the effect that it would be unwise and dangerous to molest the woman. He added that Chief Verner had done his full duty in the matter and acted properly in placing a guard over Mrs. Qwens rather than arresting her.

FOR LOWER RATES

Chicago Merchants Will Call on Southern Railroad Managers.

SAY THE RATES MUST BE CUT

Charge an Unrighteous Discrimination Favoring New York.

STEPS TAKEN TO BRING THE MATTER UP

Commissioner Haines with the Rate

Committee in Richmond Today. Other Railway News. It is probable that some live issues will be raised among the members of the Southern States Freight Association in the near futhe trading people of Chicago and the organized boards of trade of that city to make a strong appeal to the southern railroads to lower their rates between southern points and Chicago. The fight for lower tariff from the rallroads is no new one. It has been going on for several years and the details of the procedure on the part of Chicago merchants in the past are perfectly familiar to the people of the south. But things have taken a new turn now in Chicagn. There was lately a meeting of the must influential people of that city at whitch it was determined to take immediate steps to secure if possible lower rates between Affanta and Chicago.

The rate between Atlanta and Chicago is $1.67 per hundred on first-class freight, while the rate between Atlanta and New York is $1.14. The Chicago merchants have raised an issue on this difference on the count that Chicago is nearer Atlanta in count point of miles than is New York. The case went to the supreme court, where It has been pending for several years. The reilroads have claimed all along that the reason the roads leading from the east made this rate to New York lower than the reads to the west could make the rate to Chicago, was because the competition of water lines by steamer from Charleston, Savennah and Portsmouth forced them to make it.

It is the basis of calclustion of distance with the men who make rates to estimate every three miles of water as one mile by rail. In this way they figure out that it is from a transportation standpoint nearer to New York from Atlanta than it is to Chicago from Atlanta, and on this basis they have made the rate $1.14, while that from Calcago is $1.47.

Now come the merchants of Chicago with the resolution to sift the matter to its very bottom. They will probably take up the question with the railroads at once and endeavor by appeal to get them to so re-model their schedules of rates as to at least do away with the seeming discrimina-tion in favor of New York. Even if the rate from New York to Atlanta should be ined to $1.47, the merchants of Chicago would be on better footing than they now are with New York merchants.

But this rate is not likely to be increased.

If the matter is adjusted at all with any reformation in the schedule of rates, it will be to bring the rates between Chicago and Atlanta down to a point of equalization with the eastern rates, and yet the officials of the eastern lines would never consent to this, so they have repeatedly declared, and would result one of the greatest rate wars the three great sections of America

It has always been a fight between the

The matter is being aired right vigorously in Chicago and throughout the entire west ern trade center and it is probable that Commissioner H. S. Haines, of the South-ern States Freight Association, will in the near future be approached by a joint committee from Chicago and Atlanta trade or-ganizations with an appeal that something be done to put an end to the discrimination shown, and to put Chicago in as close touch with the south as is New York, water lines to the contrary notwithstanding There is a world of interest in ment and the merchants of Atlanta will watch with eager expectancy what will be ults of the efforts of their friends in Chicago at that end of the line, while they proceed to take action looking to the same sult at this end of the line.

If the eastern and western lines should come to blows over the affair it is not at robable that a general rate war wil ensue and that rates will go to smash without regard to distance, at least for a sea

Colonel Haines Not Here It was found to be the talk of the local railroad circles yesterday what the Chicago merchants have done at their recent meeting looking to cheaper rates to the south for their products.

The Constitution sought an interview from onel H. S. Haines, commissioner of the athern States Freight Association, but he was not at the headquarters of the association, having gone to Rrichmond, where the rate committee of the association hold its regular session, beginning to

The work of the rate committee at Richmond has no bearing upon the Chicago rate question, being chiefly on routine man It is very probable, however, that the

GENERAL BROWN'S CAR.

Story of That Dinner Party Seems To

Have Had No Foundation. A bit of gossip printed in Sunday's Con stitution telling a joke, the expense of which fell on General Brown, of Maryland, while here Saturday, in getting lost from his private car, seeme to be ill-founded. The managers of the Seaboard Air-Line make denial of the statement that General Brown was kept in the dark as to the movement of his private car. The story ran that the general was to give a dinner party in his private car, which the officials of the Seaboard so kindly furnished him; that he came to find that the car, at the appointed hour, was away out towards the Chattahoochee river and that by the time the car was brought in the dinner was cold and the host was hot.

Upon investigating the facts of the case Captain "Bunch" McBee found that there was no cause for such reported inconvenience and obtained from General Brown denial of the exaggerated reports, which seem to have come from parties who either were ignorant of the facts in the case or else wanted to tell a good, clever joke at the expense of their esteemed general.

At any rate, General Brown does not hold the railroad company to blame in the least and says there was no inconveni

KEEP OUT OF POLITICS

Board of Police Commissioners Issues a Warning to Policemen.

REGULAR MEETING YESTERDAY

Only Routine Matters Occupied the Attention of the Meeting, Which Was Very Harmonious.

The police board met in regular monthly session yesterday afternoon and transacted considerable routine business. No matters of general interest were acted on.

The feature of the meeting was an informal discussion on the subject of police participation in local politics. The commissioners declared with one voice that of-ficers and patrolmen and detectives should take no hand in politics further than to cast their ballots,

The result of the discussion was the adoption of a motion instructing Chief Con-nolly to issue an order to his men warning them against taking part in politics in fu-ture under penalty of being subjected to the rules of the department prohibiting members had taken fart in the recent election. He did not desire to go into the matter and raise an issue, but he thought that an order should be issued warning the force to remain aloof from politics in the future.

Chairman Johnson agreed with Captain English, stating that if the names of any men could be given who had participated in the election he favored an investigation and trial. Mr. King, Mr. Brotherton and Mr. Branan all thought that politics should be kept out of the police department and after some discussion the action stated was taken up. It was postponed until the next meeting of the board. The prosecutor in the case is said to be out of the city and nothing has been heard from him for some time. He was arrested by the detective several weeks ago, charging afterwards that Wiggins had offered to release him on pay ment of a small sum of money. Will Run Short.

Officer Harris Exonerated. The charges preferred against Patrolma J. B. Harris some time ago were dismissed the officer being exonerated. His prosecu

The matter of money necessary to run the police department for the remainder of this year was discussed. From the discussion it seems that the commissioners anticipate a shortage of something like $3,000, it looking as if that amount will be necessary to run the department over the annual appropriation. The deficit will result from the necessity of maintaining the exposition oolice force.

They are supposed to have come from DeKalb county. There is a large flock of them and young Mr. Charley Collier, who is an excellent marksman, has had his eye on them several days. He hunted them Saturday morning before daylight and shot two gobblers. They flew mile, but he followed them and killed them, as stated, near the fence of the exposition. Verily this seems but another evidence of the fact that everything is coming to the

ABOUT SOME INSTRUMENTS.

A. A. Forman Accused of Stealing an Electrical Instrument

A. A. Forman, a white man claiming to be an electrician, will be arraigned in Judg Foute's court on a charge of taking an electrical instrument from the exposition today. The instrument is a valuable one and the officers claim to have proof that it was stolen by Forman.

When arrested a lot of electric meters and dials were found in his trunk, the lot valued at several hundred dollars, and the man is suspected of irregularity in possessing them. An investigation is being made. The instrument stolen from the exposition was recovered and delivered to Superinten-dent Reynolds, of the department of electricity. Forman was arrested by Detectives Starnes and Hewitt and he is now in jail awaiting a preliminary hearing. He claims that the instruments are his own.

SENT TO JAIL.

ALBERT WILLIAMSON ACCUSED OF COINING GOLD MONEY.

In Default of $2,000 Bond He Was Remanded to Jail Yesterday To Be Tried Friday.

Albert Williamson, who was arrested Saturday on a charge of counterfeiting, was arraigned before United States Com-was arraigned before United States Commissioner Broyles yesterday morning for a hearing on the charge. He demanded trial and in the absence of witnesses the case was set for a hearing next Friday.

Williamson was arrested by Detective flewitt on a warrant from Union. S. C. He is accused of operating a counterfeit mint at that place. He is charged with coiling ten-dollar gold pieces in that place and is also accused of making a railroad stamp here, both for fraudulent purposes. In default of $2,000 bond Williamson was remanded to jail and will be held there until tried Friday. The government authorities have taken steps to have the witnesses against Williamson brought here from South Carolina and the case promises to be an interesting one.

Veterans' Association.

He Touches Upon the Vicksburg Eili tary Park Idea and Gives It Hearty Indorsement.

NOW THERE ARE 720 CAMPS

General John B. Gordon, commanding the United Confedrate Veterans' Association, has issued the following important

"Headquarters of the United Confederate Veterans, New Orleans, La., November 23, 1895.—General Orders No. 151.—The general commanding calls the earnest attention of the members of the United Confederate Veterans' Association to the recent meeting held in Vicksburg, Miss., which resulted in the formation of an association or commission of union and confederate veterans for the purpose of organizing to establish a military park, to be located on the historic battlefields in and around Vicksburg.

Vicksburg.
"To students of war and for future ages the siege of Vicksburg will stand out as a memorable and conspicuous example of one of the supremest tests of courage and endurance of man and as a marvel of mili-tary science and engineering skill by both

"Fitly called the 'Gibraitar of the South.' the siege of Vicksburg ranks as one of the most wonderful in history. For forty-seven days those blood-stained and storm-crowned heights raged with incessant conflict, and witnessed by turns the assaur upon its heroic and stubborn defenders and the repulse of the gallant and obstinate attacking army. By day sheeted fiame issued from every crest of the hills around this famous citadel of courage, and by night the destrictive and deadly bomb lit up the heavens with its lurid and baleful light. The straits to which the garrison and inhabitants of the besieged city were reduced for food and supplies were of the most pathetic, somber and painful known in history.
"Every foot of ground of the proposed military park is consecrated by the blood of heroes, and the story of the siege of Vicksburg, while written, it is true, in the blood of brothers, is a lasting and imperishable monument to American courage and heroism.
"The purpose of this commission is to "Fitly called the 'Gibraltar of the South.

perishable monument to American cour-age and heroism.

"The purpose of this commission is to ask congress to purchase the site where these momentuous scenes were enacted, so that the heroic survivors of both sides, that the heroic survivors of both sides, while yet living, can mark this memorable epoch in the history for our descendants, and for coming generations, by piacing enduring stone and other material upon the exact spots where American valor met American valor in deadly conflict.

"The plans and details connected with the enterprise will be similar to those enacted in the formation of the military parks at Gettysburg, Shiloh and Chickamauga, except that the courtesy has been extended and deference shown the south by the union veterans for the first time by placing a great southern leader at the head of the movement. An equal number of union and movement. An equal number of union and confederate veterans will form the commission, and that typical American, stainless sion, and that typical American, statmess citizen and distinguished soldier, General Stephen D. Lee, who, by the skill and daring displayed by him in and around that world-renowned fortress, crowned his already brilliant name with imperishable fame, was elected president. It needs no statement from these bandsurvines that ready brilliant name with imperishable fame, was elected president. It needs no statement from these headquarters that in his pure and able hands each side will receive the fullest care and consideration and exact justice.

"The general commanding, therefore, appeals to and urges every general, officer, every camp and every individual member of this association to at once petition and urge the member of congress and senator in their respective districts and states to assist at the coming session of congress, in December next, in carrying out the plans of this commission for the purchase of the land, so that the historic battlefields of Vicksburg may be set apart, as have those of Gettysburg, Chickamauga and Shiloh, as battle pictures of the blood-cemented republic—as object lessons and warning against any future alienation, and for pointing out to the centuries that after estrangement reconclation followed, and then everlusting peace.

"By order of JOHN B. GORDON, General Commanding

"By order of JOHN B. GORDON, General Commanding GEORGE MOORMAN, Adjutant General and Chief of Staft."

MUNYON'S SUCCESS

The Greatest Known in the Annals of Medicine.

Monday's Sales of His Remedies Reached Total of 2,847 Bottles in Augusta Alone.

What Better Proof of the Efficacy of these Little Pellets Could Any One Desire Than the Above Statement.

From Wednesday until Saturday night 10,000 vials of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure were given away free to the public, and although but four days have elapsed since the distribution ended, hundreds have re ported themselves cured, and thousands hearing from their friends the wonderfu results obtained by the use of one smal bottle of these remedies, have become con vinced of their value and purchased some of the same from their druggist. Ten Thousand Dollars spent in advertising could not have created such a demand for any medicine. But the fact that out of 10,000 trial bottles given away only seven persons have reported no benefit received, and 428 cured, compels the most skeptical to acknowledge the efficacy of Munyon's new method in treat-ing desease. Remember this company puts up a cure for every disease, just as posttive in its action as the Rheumatism Rem-edy and sold by all druggists for 25 cents. Rheumatism Cure.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism can be cured in from one to live days. It speedily cures shooting pains, sciatica, lumbago and all rheumatic pains in the back, hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used.

Stomach and Dyspepsia Cure. Munyon's Stomach and Dyspepsia Cure cures all forms of indigestion and stomach troubies, such as rising of food, distress after eating, shortness of breath and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion, wind on the stomach, bad taste, offensive breath, loss of appetite, faintness or weakness of stomach, headache from indigestion, soreness of the stomach, coated tongue, heartburn, shooting pains of the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lack of energy. the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lack of energy.

Munyon's Nerve Cure cures all symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as depressed spirits, failure of memory, restiess and sleepless nights, pains in the head diabetes. Price, 25 cents. Catarrh Cure.

Catarrh Cure.

Catarrh Positively Cured—Are you willing to spend 50 cents for a cure that permanently cures catarrh by removing the cause of the disease? If so, ask your druggist for a 25-cent bottle of Munyon's Catarrh Cure and a 25-cent bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The catarrh cure will eradicate the disease from the system and the tablets will cleanse and heal the afflicted parts and restore them to a natural and healthy condition. Munyon's Liver Cure corrects headache, illiousness, jaundice, constipation and all liver diseases.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia and breaks up a cold in a few hours.

Munyon's Cough Cure stops coughs, night sweats, allays soreness and speedily heals the lungs.

THE SPOT MARKET HIGHER

In Stocks the Trading Was Confined Almost Entirely to the Industrials-Wheat Higher.

New York, December 9.-American Tobacco practically constituted today's mar-ket at the stock exchange. The transacons in it were 20,000 shares, an enormou total even when allowance is made for the fact that it is half-stock, leaving only 68,233 shares for the remainder of the list Of this Chicago Gas, Sugar and Leather preferred figured for 110,900 shares, so that the sales of the usually active list dwin-dled down to insignificant proportions. Tobacco opened anywhere from 66 down to 63, and ruled comparatively steady around 63@64 until the afternoon when it bounded up to 72 and left off at 71½, against 67½ on Saturday last. It developed during the late trading that a big short interest had covered, and that insiders were willing to accord the stock some support. One bear house returned a block of the stock which it had borrowed some time ago and it was current gossip that the deal had net-ted its principals several hundred thou-sand dollars. The return of this stock thoroughly frightened the smaller bears, who made frantic efforts to get back their contracts in the late trading. There was some buying of the stock for the long ac count on the theory that all the bad news about the property had been made public. The stockholders' movement against the directors is making progress and it is expected that several other stock exchange houses will join with Rolston & Kass and Bache & Company shortly. It is under-stood that the president of a trust company has been offered the chairmanship of a committee to investigate the company's affairs, and that a definite answer will be given in a day or so. The preferred stock dropped 8% to 90 and rallied to 98% and 98. Leather preferred followed Tobacco so far as activity is concerned and 52,700 shares changed hands. The stock first broke 3 to 59%, and then recovered to 61%@61% on covering of short sales. Chicago Gas was weaker on moderate dealings-15,900 shares-and receded to 67%@68. A holder of Fidelity Trust receipts who turned them the Olcott-Flower committee agreement has demanded the return of his original certificates. The officials of the Central Trust Company have refused to return them, and a suit has been brought before Judge Bischoff, of this city. Sugar was firm, and after receding to 105%, rose to 107%@106%. The railway list was quiet but firm, except for Reading, which fell from 9% to 8½@9½. There was a disposition to get out of the stock before the 20 per cent assessment is levied. The weakness of the sterling exchange market, and a belief that the gold exports would be limited, had a strengthening influence. Speculation closed firm with prices any-

McIntyre & Wardwell's Cotton Letter.

New York, December 9.—Favorable foreign advices, rising spot quotations at the south, accompanied by a better demand from the mills and finally local and southern covering caused a rise here today of 10 to 11 points in spite of the fact that the receipts were rather larger than had been expected and that estimated arrivals at both Houston and New Orleans tomorrow were rather liberal. Some reports from Georgia moreover said that considerable cotton was still held in certain sections. But the market seemed to be oversold and on the recovering of their cotton the bears put up prices and Liverpool was active on the spot. New Orleans did a good spot business, the exports have shown a tendency to increase of late, Manchester advices have lately been favorable, the con-McIntyre & Wardwell's Cotton Letter. the spot. New Orleans du a good spot business, the exports have shown a tendency to increase of late, Manchester advices have lately been favorable, the continental mills have been doing a good business for some time past, the political situation in Europe seems to be more pacific, the financial situation there is rather better, and, in a word, the conditions there were such that the shorts here and in New Orleans deemed it advisable to cover. Liverpool advanced 1-64d on the spot with sales of 12,000 bales and futures advanced 3 to 4 points, closing firm. New Orleans advanced 9 to 11 points. The close here was steady at a net advance of 10 points with sales of 189,300. The exports thus far reported today are about 20,000. The New Orleans receipts tomorrow are estimated at 20,000 today are about 20,000. The New Orleans receipts tomorrow are estimated at 20,000 today were 43,402 against 62,700 last year, and 62,897 in 1893. Augusta received 701 against 1,758; Memphis, 7,00, against 6,85; St. Louis, 1,38, against 3,30, and Houston 8,44, against 13,81. Houston expects tomorrow 15,000 against 2,047 last year. Spot cotton here was steady at 1-16c advance, with sales of 14,000 for export, 80 for spinning and 1,500 delivered on contract. Middling 8 7-16c. New Orleans sold 6,000 and Norfolk 280 Manchester was quiet but steady. The strength of the undertone was again demonstrated today and the best feature is that this strength is based not so much on speciation as on a good demand for the actual cotton at home and abroad. While reactions must be expected from time to time, we continue to advocate purchases on the reactions.

Closed steady; sales 49,300 bales. The Dry Goods Market.

New York, December 9.—The week opens without any change of moment in the general condition of the dry goods market. The local jobbing trade has shown but little increase in business, and at first hands trade is still slow. The spring business has been on about the usual lines, novelties being in relatively better request than regular descriptions of cotton dress fabrics. In staple lines the tone of the market continues dull and easy.

Mubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, December 9.—The temper of the market, which has been 'gradually changing during the past week, found expression in the improvement in Liverpool this morning in the face of the increase in the receipts at the ports and the prospect of a larger movement at the interior towns. The advices from Liverpool report a generally better tone to that market, based on the buying by Manchester, where supplies had been allowed to fall to their lowest points. It is this demand, coupled with the absence of speculation, which has advanced the near positions and left the distant positions with such small premiums that it is not profitable to carry cotton until summer. Locally, the traders are in favor of a further improvement, based on the continuance of the demand from Manchester and the belief that the market cannot decline below Se per pound under present conditions. Our market closes steady at about the best prices of the day with operators in favor of a further improvement tomorrow, based on the belief that the demand from European spinners will gradually advance prices. It is noticeable that there is no disposition to be short of cotton at present prices, although the movement taken together shows a moderate increase. Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, December 9.—(Special.)—The market wore a more cheerful aspect today. Liverpool improved, and although the receipts were larger than the bulls had expected, the market had a good undertone from the start to finish. March, which closed at 8.26 on Saturday, opened at 8.27 and advanced to 8.36. The close was steady with March at 8.35@8.36. The feature of the day was the extensive eagerness to buy, but as nobody cared to sell, a very small demand sufficed to stiffen prices. We think that cotton is cheap enough, and believe that whenever the market softens it will pay to buy it.

The Sun's Cotton Review. New York, December 9.—Cotton rose 9 points, lost 4 or 5 points, then railied and reached a position 10 to 11 points above the prices of last Saturday, closing steady, with sales of 189,800 bales.

Totay's Features.—It was a narrow, oversold market, and prices therefore advanced easily under the stimulus of unexceptionally favorable Liverpool advices, where prices were not only higher, but spot cotton continued active and a better spot demand in this country at rising quetations. Spot orders on the short side were reached, and the market closed firm. The German houses were buying. The statement of British exports of cotton goods during November showed some decrease as compared with those for October, but it is believed that within a week or ten days the Lancashire business has considerably improved, and as for the continental mills they have nad an excellent trade for some months past. Not only local operators but New Orleans bought here. The receipts were larger than had been expected, but three were too many shorts and too good a demand for the actual cotton for the receipts to have any influence, particularly as many operators believe the crop is going to be very short, whatever temporary spurt the receipts may show from time to time. New England mills are believed to be buying more freely at the south. The market certainly responds more quickly to builtish news than to news of an opposite character. Exporters bought much more freely here today at higher prices.

THE CHICAGO MARKET

Unexpected Decrease in the Visible Caused an Advance of 1 1-8c. Chicago, December 3.—A decrease in the visible supply of wheat of 117,000 bushels instead of an increase of about 2,000,000, as had been looked for, caused consternaas had been looked for, caused consterna-tion in the bear camp today. An advance of a cent and a half resuited, a singular feature being the relative small amount of stuff sold on the rise, Shorts sold and took wheat back again on each fractional advance, the market all the time present-ing an unusually active appearance. Early took wheat back again on each fractional advance, the market all the time presenting an unusually active appearance. Early the crowd was ban' go on a large increase in stocks, under the effect of which expectation prices easily declined ½c, but as the figures were received from the different points included in the statement it became apparent that there was misapprehension, and values steadily recovered what they had previously lost. The final announcement caused a strong bulge. May wheat op ned from 61½661½c, sold between 61½ and 63½c, closing at 62½663c—1½c higher than Saturday. Cash wheat was firm and 1½c, higher.

Corn—The corn market depended entirely on wheat for impulse. The downward inclination of the finer grain early was more willingly participated in, however, than the later advancing tendency. The trade in this grain looks with considerable doubt on any immediate appreciation in values, and for that reason were adverse to buying anything. May corn opened at 2%c, sold between 28½c and 29½c, closing at the ouside—unchanged from Saturday. Cash corn was quiet and steady.

The oats market was in about its usual lethargic state. A very narrow range with the temper of the other markets governing fluctuations was noted. May oats closed unchanged from Saturday.

Provisions—Again the hog market was lower this morning, and product traders were discouraged on the news. Packers sold considerable today, and holders of long stuff were disposed to liquidate. At the close May pork was 5c under Saturday, May lard and ribs each 2½c lower.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.
Chicago, December 9.—With the cool, crisp weather the report of large sales of American securities by English holders, talk of increased gold shipments and other depressing influences, the bears made their usual efforts early to depress prices. While they were able to keep coarse grains down to last week's closing figures, the legitimate situation caused by the unprecedented demand for cash wheat was entirely two much for the Bradstreet's estimate of 20,000,000 bushels less in the world's supply than a year ago, a decrease on passage of 6,000,000 and a small decrease in our visible is only in line with the facts deducted from the general news of the past two weeks. The market very soon absorbed all the offerings of the bear element, showing a liberal advance, when timid holders, anxious to secure profits, threw considerable on the market, which apparently checked the advance for awhile. This, however, was soon absorbed, and the market disclosed a strong upward tendency throughout the entire session. While we still have faith in much higher prices, we would advise caution about buying on the sharp rallies, because, following these, all upward markets are liable to have equally sharp declines, perhaps not so wide, but sudden enough to shake out a good many small holders and pyramiders, thus preventing people who are overloaded from reaping the profits that properly belong to the long side in case of a gradual tendency to higher prices.

There is vrey little not heretofore mentioned to be said about coarse grain and hog products. The trading was not such as would indicate any marked tendency. Stocks are light, and we have every reason to believe that the hogs in the country are not numerous; that the packers will be contending with each other for hogs to keep their houses running, and that conditions generally indicate that we must have seen about the lowest prices. Investments in lard ought to prove remunerative. Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

SUPREME COURT BILL PASSES

An Effort To Knock Out the Popular Election Feature Fails-Both Houses Hard at Work.

There was quite a tilt in the house vester-May when the bills introduced by Senator and came up for action. It was simply a fight between democrats

The senator is a democrat and the two representatives from Gwinnett are populists. The populists opposed the passage

They are companion bills. One repeals the act creating the county court of Gwin-nett. The other establishes a city court for Gwinnett county.
Mr. Johnson, of Hall, and Mr. McCurry, of Hart, spoke in favor of these bills. They said it had been shown that the city court was an absolute necessity.

Messrs. Peeples and Espy, the populist members from Gwinnett, spoke against these bills. They said that the grand jury had refused to recommend it and that the people of their county were opposed The vote stood ayes 104, noes 35-democrats

The bills were passed. To Prevent Increase of Bonded Debt. The house yesterday reconsidered the bill to prevent the increase in the bonded debt of the state or the raising of the interest

Mr. Dempsey offered a substitute repealing the act to make the income of the State university permanent.

Mr. McCurry, of Hart, attempted to amend by reducing the rate of interest from to 4 per cent. This was ruled out. Mr. Dempsey made a strong speech in avor of his substitute. Blalock, of Fayette, also spoke in favor of the substitute.

Mr. Mell, of Clarke, made a strong arguent against the measure. He said the legislature had never appropriated any money to the university and if this act was repealed they never would do it. The state simply pays interest to herself. The money was given to the state for the support of this home institution by strangers. No money was appropriated by the state. The vote stood ayes 89, noes 26, and the

The vote stood ayes 89, noes 26, and the bill passed.

Mr. Dempsey's substitute repealing the funding act of 1831, making the income of the University of Georgia permanent, is very important measure. As the law was, the trustees of the university could present to the governor any valid matured bond of the state, which might only be a 3½ per cent bond, and the governor would have to issue a bond to the trustees bearing 7 per cent interest and good for fifty years, which could be renewed. The trustees have already obtained $275,000 of these 7 per cent bonds. Mr. Dempsey's substitute seeks to prevent the increase of this bonded debt. It does not invalidate the bonds already issued, but it prevents their renewal at the end of fifty years.

Mr. Dempsey made a good fight for this bill, and after reconsideration it was passed.

IN THE SENATE.

Fleming's Supreme Court Bill Passer That Body.

The people of Georgia will be given another opportunity to give the supreme court the relief which is so badly needed. Speaker Fleming's bill submitting the mendment of the constitution to the peo ple, passed the senate yesterday.

It increases the number of supreme court judges from three to six. There is to be one chief justice and five associate justices and they are to be elected by the people. The first election of judges by the people will be held on the third Wednesday in December, 1896.

An amendment to the bill as it came from the house was adopted and offered by the general judiciary committee of the senate. The amendment struck out the whole of the clause requiring the election of the judges to be by the people. Senator Harris, of the twenty second, as chairman of that committee, supported the amendment in a lengthy speech. He declared that if the legislature passed the oill it would virtually declare that that body was too corrupt to be trusted with the selection of our supreme court judges.

were Senators Osborne and Sanford.
Senators Snead, McGregor, Boyd, Wilson and Long spoke against the amendment. Senator Long took the position that the people could be trusted in all things; that

The other senators who spoke with him their will was supreme.

Senator McGregor said it had been charged that this was going a step back-ward. He said he was glad to go backward to get on the principles of Jefferson. He wanted to go back a long way. The amendment was lost by a vote of 14 for and 21 against it. On the passage of the bill the vote was as follows: Those voting in the affirmative were Senators Beeks, Broughton, Bush, Bussey, Boyd, Brown, Cumming, Craigo, Harris of the twelfth, Johnson, Keen, Lewis, Long, Little, Lumpkin, Mc-Millan, Mercer, McGregor, Munro, Morton, McGarrity, McClure, Ryals, Roberts, Sanford, Snead, Sharpe, Star, Tatum, Wilson Wilcox, Wade and Williams-33.

Those voting in the negative were Sen ators Harris of the twenty-second, harrison, Osborne, Upchurch and Whitley-5.

Other Bills Passed. The bill of President Venable to make an xtra levy of $25 on liquor dealers to establish an inebriate asylum in this state, was reported in The Constitution of Sunday as reving passed the senate. Though the bill received a constitutional majority it did not pass on Saturday, as it changes the onstitution of the state and required a two-thirds vote, which it did not receive wing to the shm attendance on Saturday. It was reconsidered yesterday, however

Other bills passed yesterday were: To change the time for holding the regular quarterly term of the city court of Elbert county so that the same shall commence on the second Monday in February, May, August and November; to authorize the town council of Rowman to issue bonds; to incorporate the town of Alto in the countles of Banks and Habersham; to relieve Mr. J. S. McGahee, of McDuffle county, as surety on an appearance bond. A resolution offered by Seantor Wade authorizing the governor to accept, in the name of the people of Georgia, from General James D. McBride, for preservation in the archives of the executive depart-ment, one copy of his historical publication entitled "Important Periods in the History of the United States," and "The Seal of the United States and Seals of the Executive, Judicial and Legislativifie Department of the Government," was passed.

Pages Receive Their Pay. The senators began yesterday to send in their accounts with the state and receive their per diem and mileage for the closing term. The pages also were settled with yesterday, and it was not an uncommon sight to see a page with a roll of bills in his pockets, or in his hands, about half of the time. Six pages have served in the senate this term, though only four are provided for. But by agreement, six were appointed, and the salary of four was divided among them, each receiving $1.33 1-3 per day. The pages' names are Howard Stanton, Henry Burch, Rollin Broughton,

Frank Moody, Emory Stanton and Ed The Night Session. The senate met at 6:30 o'clock last even ing and after passing a number of bills adjourned to the banquet by President Venble at the Granite. The house bill of Mr. Broyles to amend section 1675 (a) of the code prohibiting for-eign corporations from owning more than 5,000 acres of land in Georgia was passed.

The other bills passed were:
To amend an act entitled an act to incorporate the Savannah Bank and Trust corporate the Savannah Bank and Trust Company; to amend section 4928 of the code of 1882 relating to sales of property execution issuing out of the city court of Sava-nah; to incorporate the town of Brasw in the county of Spalding; to incorporate the town of Brasw in the county of Spalding; to incorporate the town of Decatur to provide for the registration and license of every trade, business, calling, avocation or profession prosecuted and carried on within the incorporate limits of said town; to repeal an act for the protection of fish in the waters of Berrien county; an act to be entitled an act to fix the time and manner of electing the mayor and county, an act to be entitled an act to fix the time and manner of electing the mayor and council of the town of Decatur and to fix the terms of office of said officers; to re-peal an act creating a board of county; commissioners for DeKalb county; to amend an act to create a board of com-missioners of roads and revenues for Ca-toosa county.

He is one of the able to has been in the legislature proven that he possesses to a high degree that practical common sense a high degree that practical common sense which is the great requisite to the success of a legislator. He has, too, rare executive ability and would be a magnificent presid-ing officer. He has formally announced his candidacy for the speakership of the next louse, or rather his friends have done it for him, and it is generally understood that of the men who are likely to come back to the next house, almost all of them are enthusfastic in his support. In fact it is said that all but two have so declared them-

Mr. Jenkins belongs to one of the most prominent families of middle Georgia and he is a man who has won success in every line of endeavor to which he has turned his attention. The indications are strong that another legislature will find it "Mr. Speaker" Jenkins.

SKINNER AS A STAR.

THE BRILLIANT ACTOR HAD BRILLIANT OPENING.

His New Play Is Strong and Attractive-"A Railroad Ticket" at the Lyceum-Trocadero's Bill.

One of the most brilliant theatrical events that Atlanta has known in a season notable for its brilliancy in its line, was the appearance at the Grand last night of Otis Skinner in his new play, "Villon the Vagabond." Under any circumstances the visit of Mr. Skinner is an event here in Atlanta, where his brilliant ability has always met such hearty recognition, but it is doubly so this season, coming as he does with a new play and having, by a most successful previous season, demonstrated his right to be classed among the foremost stars of the American stage and having demonstrated as well his thorough ability to sustain him self not only in the romantic roles, where he is seen to such splendid advantage, but in the great roles of the great masters.

Last night he was greeted by a magnif cent audience, despite the inclement weath er, and the brilliant events which drew so heavily on society. The theater was filled and the audience was most enthusiastic. As a play "Villon the Vagabond" is extremely interesting and well written, and is a most excellent vehicle for Otis Skinner. The scene of the play is laid in Paris in 1461, the last year of the reign of Charles VII. and the first of his son, Louis XI. The story deals with some of the vicissitudes in the life of Francois Villon, the French poet of the fifteenth century. In the first act, which takes place in th great reception hall of the Louvre, the love of the vagabond pcet, a ward of the king, Catherine de Vaucelles, is developed. He tells her of this love, but the court beauty will have none of him, for she is ambi-tious and is in league with the king's councillor De Grigny, who, trusted by the aged monarch, is secretly scheming to overthrow him. At the end of the first act Villon denounces the king, his methods, his treatment of the people and his entourage in good round terms, and only escapes arrest by his good fortune in breaking his way through the guards. The second act shows the interior of the Fir-Cone inn, a Paris tavern made famous in Villon's verse, where Villon has given a rendevouz to the Dauphin. On his way back from the palace he has committed his first crime, the theft of a dead man's purse. In this tavern are found all of Villon's favorite companions—thieves, cut throats and bravos, who, when the dauphin arrives, recognize him and propose to turn him over to De Grigny and obtain a reward. They are folled by the quick wit of a woman of the place, Denise, who is in love with the poet, and by means of a secret panel allows the prince to escape while Villon holds back his companions at the point of his sword.

The scene of the third act is laid in the apartments of Catherine de Vaucelles in the Louvre. De Grigny has remarked a striking likeness between Villon and the dauphin, and knowing that the Paris mob will demand their prince, has caused letter to be sent the poet purporting to come from Catherine de Vaucelles, which gives him a rendezvous at her rooms in the palace at midnight, it being de Grigny's intention to hold Villon and present him to the people should they demand the dauphin in his, the dauphin's place. Villon keeps the tryst. Catherine demands why he has dared to enter her apartments like a thief in the night, and refuses to listen to him, even though he gives her his sword and bares his breast that she may end his suffering then and there. De Grigny enters at this juncture and finding Villon unarmed, calls his guard and gives him the choice between immediate marriage with the woman he has compromised, or death. For woman he has compromised, or death. For a moment Villon does not understand, but when de Grigny tells him that the woman is Catherine, he is overjoyed, and still more so when he is told to enter an ad-joining room where he will find garments befitting the man who is about to wed the ward of the king. Catherine demurs at this proposition of De Grigny, but he explains to her that it is only a ruse to gain time, assures her of his love and also that she shall share his power once his end is obtained. She gives an unwilling consent to play the part, but unfortunately for the conspirators, Villon has overheard that portion of the plot relating to himself, and his eyes are opened. Still he comes forward simulating the lover. The cries of the mob are growing stronger. They demand mob are growing stronger. They demand the dauphin. Villon, at first unconsciously impersonates the prince, then seeing the mob really take him to be the dauphin, he draws his sword and bids them in the most impassioned language to follow him to victory and the throne. This attempt ends in his arrest.

The last act finds the unfortunate poet in the Bestile awaiting his execution for high treason with several companions. high treason with several companions. Catherine de Vaucelles comes in search of de Grigny, and she is shortly followed by Denise, who comes for a last word with the man she loves. The two women have a very strong scene in which Denise begs for the life of her lover, but in vain. The hour of execution is at hand. The procession is about to move, when an official from the new king, Louis XI, enters with a stay of execution, and he is followed a mcment later by the king in person, who a mcment later by the king in person, who grants Villon a full pardon. Of course, by this time Villon has recognized the true value of the love which Denise bears him. The author has followed historical facts with some fidelity, but has taken more or less dramatic license in order to strengthen his plot and make the story interesting. The dialogue is bright, terse and crisp, and the situations and climaxes are strong and dramatic.

Of Mr. Skinner's individual work, it is not necessary to say more than that he again demonstrated the strong grasp he has on the art which is his life's work. Of all the young men to whom we look for great demonstrated the strong grasp he has on the art which is his life's work. Of all the young men to whom we look for great things, Otis Skinner is the most promising. I will not say that it is "coming" greatness with him, for in the vernacular of Topsy, "he has done come." He has won his spurs. In everything he is the true artist and he fully brought out last night the strongly dramatic and intense role of the vagabond poet.

His supporting company is a very strong one. Miss Darbin, his leading lady, is an exceedingly clever and talented young woman who is plesantly remembered for her excellent work with Modjeska and with Mr. Skinner last season. Mr. Fred C. Moseley, well known to Atlantans; Mr. Mark Price, Mr. R. Pay a Carter, Mr. Sylvester and Miss Truax he leading members. All of the roles are well.

sustained and the production was received with many evidences of approval. A special matinee will be given today. "Villon the Vagabond" will be repeated then and will be given again Wednesday night.

Tonight the bill will be "His Grace de Grammont," which was seen here last year and which is a comedy of manners with very strong situations.

Fun at the Lyceum.

A fair house welcomed the return o "Freeman's Funmakers" at the Lyceum theater last night. They presented that funny farce, entitled "A Railroad Ticket." Of the play nothing can be said in these olumns that has not been said before. It is one of the funniest farces seen here.

The company is composed of the leaders in their respective lines, and can truly be called laugh-makers in every sense of the word. Eugene Canfield duplicated the big hit he made on his previous visit with this company. James H. Bradbury as Clasher, the rain king, is a comedian & the old school, legitimate in his methods and never fails to evoke applause and and never fails to evoke appears frank Gardner, as Percy Vere, the collector, was funny and in his dancing specialty re-ceived numerous encores. John S. Terry played the part of Jack Tickets very ac-ceptably and was well received in his tenor solos. A pleasing feature was the song and dance of the Misses Waters and Stombler and Messrs, Porter and Gardiner. Stembler and Messrs. Porter and Gardiner Miss Beatrice Norman plays the part of Mrs. Clasher very well and her fine con-tralto voice was head to advantage. The mirror dance of the Misses Rice and Halvers was new and pleasing, while the singing of the California quartet received rounds of applause.

A special matinee for ladies and children will be given Wednesday at 2 p. m. "The Patriots" Last Week. After a successful run of four weeks a the Columbia theater "The Patriots" will close its engagement next Friday night. The opera will be at once transferred to the Grand opera house in Philadelphia, where it will be put on in magnificent style next Monday night for a one week's run. will then go to Boston, Baltimore, Washington, New York and Brooklyn. In each of these cities it will run a week or longer. There are many reasons why "The Patrits" will attract large audiences in Boston and Philadelphia. The scenes of the opera are laid there, and the people of those places are impregnated with patriotism. They will catch the spirit of the lines and will be quick to applaud the sentiments. It is not at all improbable that "The Patriots" is not at all improbable that "The Patriots" will prove an immense success in Philadelphia and other large cities of the east.

The performance last night was attended by a devout band of true lovers of music, who braved the elements to gratify their appetites for melody and harmony. They were amply repaid for their pains. This being the last week, it behooves all who have not yet seen "The Partiots" to delay no longer. It is well worth seeing. Many are so well pleased with it that they go night after night to see the magnificent scenery and to hear the beautiful music.

The usual matinee will take place next Thursday, but there will be none Saturday, as the company must leave Atlanta at noon that day in order to reach Philadelphia for a rehearsal Sunday night.

The Trocadero.

The Trocadero. There was a good crowd at the Trocadero last night. It had been heralded by a most creditble street parade at noon, by a proession of the Halpin, Swift & Chase minstrels, which opened last night's performance with a most laughable olio of songs, dances and interpolations. Dan Quinlan the intercolutor, had charge of this feat-ure. The first part was intended to con-sume twenty minutes, but the encores of the audience lenghtened this feature to louble that time. The star attraction of the week was Vanola, the Mexican wonder. His equilibris-tic feats fully justified the extended press notices which has preceded him. His per-formance last night demonstrated his claim to the foremost place among all ar-tists in his line. Swift and Chase, the musloal comedians, were the source of the greatest laughter in their numerous dia-logues and met with the greatest success. Alice J. Shaw, la belle sifficuse, rendered a new reportoire of ballads and classical Alice J. Shaw, la belle siffleuse, rendered a new reportoire of ballads and classical music. She is always a drawing card wherever she goes, as the first woman to popularize whistling on the stage. Press Eldridge, the monologue comedian; the three Albions, as comedy acrobats, and the Bison City Quaret, all added to the pleasures of the evening.

City Quaret, all added to the pleasures of the evening.

It was a disappointment to the large audience that Papinta could not appear on account of her accident last week. Manager Halpin announced that her doctor had forbidden her going on last night, but that she would positively be able to give her dances, which have been the most popular attraction at the Trocadero this season, Thursday night and she will no doubt be given an immense ovation.

Regular matinee this afternoon and the same great bill will be presented again tonight.

DAMROSCH AS DIRECTOR.

An Interesting Estimate Showing the Personality of the Man. The sale of single seats to the season of German opera by the Damrosch company opens at the Grand box office this morning at 9 o'clock. The operas to be given will be "Lohengrin," "Siegfried" and "Tannhauser" in the order named. That Mr. Damrosch and his superb company will be greeted with immense audiences there can be no doubt, as the sale of season tickets has been very large.

William D. Armstrong, the accomplished music critic of The Chicago Tribune, places

the following estimate upon Walter Dam-rosch as an operatic director: "Whether it is seated on a chair in the rosch as an operatic director:

"Whether it is seated on a chair in the middle of the stage between acts, following every detail of preparation for the next scene, or in buoying a timid singer into greater confidence, Mr. Damrosch seems always the point of reliance. After carrying through an act with fervor and absorption in his work he comes quietly behind the scenes and instead of withdrawing into the seclusion generally affected by conductors, remains on the stage. There the singers come to him for a word regarding some detail in the mext act. Herr Harder, standing near by, will give some little hint of improvement in stage business which Mr. Damrosch will help make clear.

"A kind word for every one, and with it all a perfect serenity and cheerfulness that nothing appears likely to affect. In the midst of the orchestra and a performance he is excited. But it is the excitement of interest, not of anxiety. In the presentation of the opening night Fri. Maurer sang 'Brangaene,' without previous rehearsal, for the first time, on two hours' notice. The impersonation may have left much to be desired, but that it was satisfactory as it proved to be remains remarkable. But in this instance, as in others, the absolute confidence and daring of Mr. Damrosch seemed to infect the singer. Her timidity and nervousness were clearly apparent, but in no point overmastering, and the director carried her through in safety.

"Alertness of action and absolute absence of indecision are always evident with Mr. Damrosch. An older man would not have risked what he has done. Older men are also not enthusiastic. But Mr. Damrosch, in his undertakings, has had the firmness of purpose that too rarely comes in youth to combine with this enthusiasm. He has displayed forethought in the people he has gathered about him in stage direction. They are few in number, considered with the results obtained."

Something of the Singer Who Will Be Heard Here in "Lohengrin."

Be Heard Here in "Lohengrin."

Herr Popovici off the stage is full of life and animation, much younger in appearance than when in opera, for he is yet a young man, and as earnest in all he says as he is in the roles he fills. He is not as tall as he seems beyond the footlights. It is the commanding manner that he has which adds to his inches on the stage as well as off. His face is a strong one. The eyes are gray-blue, bright and expressive. A brown mustache falls over rather full lips and his hair, also brown and short, is brushed straight back from his forehead. There is an open frankness in his manner that is delightful. What he thinks he says, apparently, and, having said it, has no desire to change the expression.

In speaking of his career the eminent singer, whose Telramund has met with such great enthusiasm, said to a reporter:

"I was led to undertake my career in German opera through the advice of the queen of Roumania, Carmen Sylva. Prior to that time I sang in Italian opera and in concerts. The queen first heard me sing some German songs in a concert at her summer residence, Sinai. She at once advised me to undertake a German opera career, and made it possible for me to go to Vienna to study. It was originally intended I should be a physician, but at my own desire I was allowed to study at the conservatory at Bucharest. My teacher there was G. Stephanesca. While I was studying there I was at the same time appearing as actor and singer at the Royal theater in Bucharest.

"In Vienna I became a pupil of Herr as actor and singer at the Royal theater in Bucharest.

"In Vienna I became a pupil of Herr Gansbacher. When I had finished with him I was directly engaged by Angelo Neumann for the Royal theater at Prague. My contract was for six years and to sing the heroic barytone roles in German and Italian opera. In addition to appearances in Prague I made several tours under the management of Herr Neumann in Germany. Herr Kniese, the Bayreuth director, first heard me in Prague and engaged me for the festival performances of last summer.

"A false impression seems to prevail as to the character of Telramund in the opera of 'Loheggrin.' He is too often regarded as a villain when, in fact, he is not. He succumbs to the influence of Ortrud and believes Lohengrin, through his magic, to be a dangerous man to his land. He is honorable and upright in his purpose, even though after Lohengrin has given him his life he should attempt again to kill him. If he had pardoned him twenty times he would still have wanted to take his life, and for the very reasons which first prompted him to the act.

"I am the only Roumanian who has adopted a German career. The rest have all chosen Italian opera. We have some good singers in Roumania, and they have the warm southern temperament. The queen of Roumania, to whom I owe my choice of career, always plays my accompaniments when I sing at Sinal. She is a very fine accompanist, and we have long programmes of Schubert and Schumann together. I am happy the queen of Roumania is so highly regarded and well known in this country, and that I, as a Roumanian, am the first to sing Wagner opera here in German, for the German career is the greatest one."

Harry Elston, at No. 3 Whitehall street, is one of the most popular merchant tailors in Atlanta, and deservedly so. He does good, honest work and charges a reasonably fair price. It is not his custom to make a few good people pay for the clothing worn by unreliable parties. He treats everybody alike and has but one plain price. As to his patterns, they are up to date and you will find no difficulty in making your selections. As a merchant tailor Mr. Elston ranks with the best in this country. His suits are marvels of style and he guarantees a fit in every particular. Call and see him at 3 East Alabama street.

I Won't Wear a Cheap Overcoat I Can't Afford an Expensive One

If that's your dilemma let us show you a coat that appears to have been gotten up to meet your case. It has every elegancy—is made of fine black or blue Kersey, with wide velvet collar, satin shoulders and sleeve linings, black suiting serge, body linings, has lap seams and is of fashionable length. It's an exceedingly dressy coat and as thoroughly good as it is pretty. Your friends will never know it didn't cost $35.
